CARRANZA CALLS ARREDONDO HOME FOR CONFERENCE

Ambassador-Designate Expected to Return to Washington in Short Time.

FAMILY STAYS BEHIND

Denied That Trip Is Due to Failure of Peace Conferees to Agree.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Eliseo Arredondo, the Mexican Ambassador-designate, now on his way to Mexico City, is expected by personal conferences to give Gen. Carranza a clearer understanding of the American view of difficulties between the two countries, and State Department officials hope he may be able to convince the First Chief of the necessity of consenting to full consideration of all issues by the joint commission.

Arredondo left Washington yesterday afternoon after calling on Secretary Lansing, Counsellor Polk and Assistant Secretary Phillips. He explained to these officials that Gen. Carranza had requested his presence in Mexico City.

Family Stays in Washington.

Secretary Lansing said he had no direct knowledge of the purpose of Arredondo's trip, but indicated that he expected him back in Washington within two or three weeks. The Ambassador's wife and children have remained in Washington.

Gen. Carranza has shown plainly recently that he is not in accord with the American idea of the work undertaken by the Mexican-American commission at New London. Officials here have been puzzled by his notice to Governors of Mexican states that the commissioners would discuss nothing beyond the withdrawal of American troops from Mexico.

Arredondo's personal status in this country also probably will be considered at his meeting with Gen. Carranza. For a long time the envoy has been known to be dissatisfied with his doubtful position as Ambassador-designate and to have desired his acceptance by the State Department as Ambassador and the accrediting of Henry P. Fletcher to Mexico City as Ambassador there. Fletcher, though named some time ago, has been held in Washington pending adjustment of the relations of this Government with Mexico.

El Valle Fight Drunken Row.

A report on the fight between American and Mexican soldiers in a saloon in El Valle near the American expeditionary base, last Friday, was made to the War Department today by Brigadier-General Pershing, with the comment that the Carranza officials regarded the incident as being merely a drunken brawl. He did not give the name of the American trooper who was killed. The dispatch follows:

"Several soldiers from El Valle camp ran guard Friday night, went into El Valle, got drunk and engaged in a row with Carranza soldiers. One Carranza officer killed, one Carranza soldier wounded; one American soldier killed and another slightly wounded. Board of officers has been investigating, unable so far to ascertain names of any other of the party. Matter looked upon by Carranza officials as simply drunken row."

Mexicans Deny Failure to Agree.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 27.—The Mexican representatives on the joint commission that is seeking a basis for an agreement between this country and Mexico on border control, professed surprise today that the departure of Ambassador-designate Arredondo for Mexico was attributed in some quarters to failure of the commissioners to agree. According to their information, Arredondo's visit to Mexico will be brief, and it is not due to the conference of the commissioners. When the commissioners met today the consideration of the different plans suggested for a better control of the border was continued.

BRITAIN WITHDRAWS NEW RULES ON CIGAR TOBACCO IMPORTATION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Great Britain has withdrawn regulations governing the importation of cigar tobacco, which American growers had declared would ruin their business, and has authorized imports on the basis of those in 1913, 1914 and 1915.

The original regulations governing imports of cigar tobacco between June 1, 1915, and May 31, 1917, were based on the amount that the importer had brought in 1915, a war year in which imports were small. The new order, according to the Department of Commerce officials, gives authority for practically normal imports of American tobacco into Great Britain.

NEW FIND OF COPPER AND OIL

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Sept. 27.—Indications of a copper and oil strike in Polk County are reported from Bolivar, Mo.

According to information received here, two strikes have been made on the farm of Joe Brant, three-quarters of a mile northwest of Bolivar. Copper carbonate was found at a depth of 375 feet in the first drilling, and pure copper at a depth of 415 feet. The drills were then moved a quarter of a mile away and oil sand is reported to have been found at a depth of 350 feet.

DIDN'T TAKE ADVICE OF POLICEMAN AND WAS ROBBED

Visitor From Terre Haute Loses $195 After Being Warned to Leave Woman Companion.

William Sparks, 40 years old, of Terre Haute, Ind., fell into the hands of robbers this morning in spite of a policeman's efforts to save him.

At 1 a. m. Sparks was walking down Chestnut street, arm in arm with a young woman, when Sergt. Flanagan stopped him at Thirteenth street. The policeman recognized the woman as an associate of police characters and advised Sparks to go on his way alone. Sparks and the woman became indignant and the policeman ordered the woman away and directed Sparks to go to his hotel.

Fifteen minutes later Sparks approached two policemen at Twelfth and Pine streets and told them that he had been "strong-armed" by three men in an alley nearby and robbed of $195. Sergt. Flanagan came up and Sparks admitted he had met the woman again, and that she ran away when the robbers attacked him.

Three men arrested were Thomas Quigley, 36; Joseph Hayes, 1822 Biddle street, and James Grady, 3709 St. Louis avenue. Sparks identified Quigley and Hayes. Later the woman who had been with Sparks was arrested. She said she was Emma O'Brien, 25, 815 Wash street.

EAST TOWER OF EADS BRIDGE CLOSED TODAY BY TERMINAL

Walking Workers Who Have Used It for Ascent and Descent May Now Have to Use Cars.

The east tower of Eads Bridge was closed today and according to officials of the Terminal Railway Association, will not be reopened. Its closing works a hardship on obout 1000 men and girls employed at the railroad offices on the east side river front, who have been walking the bridge on passes and using the east tower for ascent and descent.

Now they will have to use the wagon chute, which connects with the east approach several hundred yards east of the tower. This will make the distance so much greater that many of them will probably find it necessary to use the bridge cars, which will redound to the profit of the Terminal Association. The reason given for closing the tower is that persons to reach it have to cross the railroad tracks on the levee.

MACHINISTS AT 2 PLANTS ON STRIKE, TROUBLE TO SPREAD

Union Votes General Walkout to Enforce Demands for Eight-Hour Day.

PROTECTION ASKED FOR

Plumb and Curtis Manufacturing Companies Send Appeal to Sheriff.

Letters received by Sheriff Bode and the two Circuit Judges at Clayton, today, asked that Deputy Sheriffs be sent to guard the manufacturing plants of the Curtis & Co. Manufacturing Co. and the Fayette R. Plumb Co., in Wellston, and stated that strikes of machinists had been declared in both plants.

Both the concerns named are largely engaged in making war munitions. It was learned by inquiry in the neighborhood of the plants that more than 70 men have quit at the Curtis establishment, but that only a few men, if any, have left the Plumb plant. The officials of the companies refused to give any information.

A demand for the 8-hour day, and for an increased wage scale, has been made on all concerns employing machinists here. At the Diesel Engine Co., in South St. Louis, 200 men are said to be out.

F. M. Parmeter, secretary of the International Association of Machinists, with headquarters at 810 Chestnut street, said that there were more than 4000 machinists in St. Louis. Ben F. Lamb, business agent of the union, said the question of the advisability of a strike in the Wagner Electric Manufacturing Co., which employs 3650 men and which has the 9-hour day and the open shop, had been left to a committee.

The Wagner Co.'s principal plant, employing 2500 men, is at 6400 Plymouth avenue, and another, which employs 350, is at Maple avenue and Wabash tracks. There are two plants within the city. W. A. Layman, president of the company, would not discuss the strike question, but employes said a walkout of union machinists was considered likely. The company has made no request for especial protection.

The letters from the two Wellston firms contained requests for Deputy Sheriffs to guard their plants where, the letters said, the strike of machinists is now on.

Curtis Company Expected Trouble.

The Curtis letter said the company had been expecting labor trouble and that a deputation of their union employes, quoting President Wilson's views on the eight-hour day, demanded a shorter day and when refused, went on strike.

The Plumb letter said that the company made its request for Deputy Sheriffs in the interest of the St. Louis Steel Foundry, the Efficiency Oil Co. "and other corporations in the vicinity," as well as itself.

An ultimatum to employers was decided on, by the machinists, at a meeting held at Thirteenth and Chouteau avenue, Sept. 11. The machinists also demanded a minimum wage of 50 cents an hour for machinists. The employers replied that large contracts, now on hand, had been accepted on estimates based on the old wage scale, and that acceptance of the men's demands would cause heavy loss on those contracts.

Wagner Plant Advocates Open Shop.

The Wagner company announced the "open shop" policy in a "shop practice" booklet which is given to all employes.

It is stated in this booklet that the company is not concerned with the question whether or not its employes belong to a union, so long as they make no effort to dictate the company's policy, and do not become a disturbing element in the business. The company, it is stated, invites suggestions, but not dictation, and it will not permit either union or nonunion men to make the union question a matter of controversy.

The booklet establishes 54 hours as a week's work, and these hours, it is stated, are to be worked between 7 a. m. and 6 p. m. Employes are paid by the hourly rate, premium system, piece work, contract, "or such other system as we may devise in each individual case." A premium system is used to encourage speed, and slow men are discharged at the option of foremen.

125,600 WALK OUT IN GENERAL STRIKE, CLAIM OF LEADERS

Say That 263,000 More Will Join the Car Men Tomorrow in New York.

GOVERNOR ASKED TO ACT

Is Urged to Call Special Session of Legislature to Meet Situation.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Union workers to the number of 125,600 went on strike today in sympathy with the striking traction employes, according to figures given out at a meeting of representatives of labor unions.

These were the figures reported to the meeting by the union delegates, according to Ernest Bohm, State organizer of the American Federation of Labor. The trades which have responded to the strike call, he said, are the United Garment Workers, six building trades unions, the paper hangers' union, painters, house wreckers and a number of small organizations. Bohm declared that 263,000 more would go out tomorrow.

The general strike convention amended by representatives from the international unions having headquarters in this city, was called to order here today after considerable delay, by Hugh Frayne, State organizer of the American Federation of Labor.

Less than 125,000 union employes responded to the strike call, according to reports received at police headquarters. The officials said, however, that it was difficult to obtain an accurate estimate.

All the breweries and beer delivery agencies in the Bronx were notified this morning that the drivers, numbering about 200, will "suspend work for a few days," beginning this evening.

Brewers Expect Strike.

The Manhattan brewers expect a strike of the brewery workers. Col. Jacob Ruppert said today that, while he had received no direct intimation that his men would go out, he believes they are getting ready to join the employes of the other breweries in "suspension of work."

Apparently the feeling that the brewery workers and drivers will go on strike is general throughout Manhattan, for the brewers were overwhelmed today with orders for beer from saloons and cafes.

The members of the unions in the United Hebrew trades will quit work tonight for the New Year holiday season and would not report back for work under ordinary circumstances until next Monday. Of 200,000 workers expected by labor leaders to go on strike, 140,000 are affiliated with the United Hebrew Trades.

Among the organizations which have voted to strike today, according to those directing the movement, are: Ladies' garment workers, 95,000; clothing workers, 40,000; painters and decorators, 15,000; furriers, 15,000; tinsmiths, 10,000; butchers, 10,000; stationary firemen, 2500; paper box makers, 7000; milliners, 6000; jewelry workers, 3000; brewery workers, 6000. Total, 209,500.

Predict More Will Quit.

The leaders assert that in addition to those to quit work today they will be able to call out 100,000 more daily for the next two or three days.

At the last moment it became known that T. V. O'Connor, national president of the Longshoremen's Union, had decided not to call out the 45,000 members of that organization today. It was stated there was serious doubt whether he would ask them to take part in the strike at any time.

Mayor Mitchel, whose efforts to settle the differences between the striking carmen and the transit companies have failed repeatedly, summoned the labor leaders before him as soon as he heard of their plans yesterday. He said he desired to be informed directly as to what might be expected.

After a meeting of the joint labor conference committee, strikers were supplied with pamphlets for distribution throughout the city, in which attacks were made on the so-called Morgan and Rockefeller interests.

"Rockefeller, Morgan and their associates control the transit of the city of New York," the pamphlets read, "and they also control the railroads, mines, industries and public utilities throughout the country, as well as most of the banks and nearly all the money."

Want Special Session.

Members of the State Legislature from this city, who called on Gov. Whitman late yesterday and urged him to convene the Senate and Assembly in an extraordinary session to deal with the strike situation, submitted a draft of a proposed arbitration act. The Governor, although opposed to calling the Legislature together at this time, studied the proposed law carefully and said he believed there was "room" for it on the statute books.

The act outlined would provide a fine of $5000 and revocation of the license of a corporation that breaks an agreement to arbitrate and a fine against the union breaking such an agreement where the public interest is affected or likely to be affected.

New Tests for Navy Officers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Practical tests, designed to show the individual efficiency of naval officers qualifying for promotion, are to supersede the old system of written examinations. Rear Admiral Palmer, Acting Secretary of the Navy, has authorized all ship commanders to make the subjects of steam engineering, navigation, gunnery, electricity and seamanship the deciding factors.

Girl Who Was Killed in Auto Accident, and Friend Who Was Hurt at Same Time

MISS LILLIAN BROADWELL MISS ANITA CRAIG

GIRL HURT IN AUTO BY STREET CAR DIES

Miss Lilian Broadwell Never Regained Consciousness; Five Others Injured.

Miss Lilian Broadwell, 18 years old, of the Floriss Apartments, 6019 Floriss ant avenue, died at the city hospital at 3:30 o'clock this morning from injuries received at 11:30 last night, when an automobile in which she was riding with two other young women and three young men was struck by a northbound Union line street car at Union avenue and Natural Bridge road.

The other occupants of the car were thrown out and injured, four of them seriously. They were Miss Anita Craig, 19, also of the Floriss Apartments; Miss Natalie Wilkinson, 21, of 2226 Sullivan avenue; Edward Downey, 21, 4227 St. Louis avenue; Lyle Marshall, 21, 4004 St. Louis avenue, and George Mottaz of Hardin, Ill. The automobile was owned and driven by Mottaz, who has been visiting at Miss Wilkinson's home.

Never Regained Consciousness.

Miss Broadwell's skull was fractured. She did not regain consciousness after being taken to the hospital. Miss Craig's nose was broken and her face cut and she has concussion of the brain. Miss Wilkinson was cut and bruised and suffered from shock, but her injuries are not serious.

Downey has a fractured skull and internal injuries. Marshall's face and hands were cut and he has concussion of the brain. Mottaz was cut and bruised and his right shoulder was fractured.

Raymond Jass, the motorman, and Lafayette Thaw, conductor of the street car, were arrested. They said they were going north at moderate speed and the automobile was going east on Natural Bridge road and running very fast. The automobile, they said, was on the wrong side of the street and the driver paid no attention to the motorman's warning gong.

The automobile was knocked onto the sidewalk and the street car was derailed.

Going Slow, Driver Says.

At the hospital Mottaz regained consciousness long enough to tell Mrs. Fred Craig, mother of Miss Anita Craig, that the automobile was going slow and the car fast. He said the street car carried a blinding searchlight which confused him as he approached the crossing.

Mrs. Craig said Downey and Marshall had been regularly escorting her daughter and Miss Broadwell to a dancing academy on Delmar boulevard. She had never met Miss Wilkinson and Mottaz until they arrived at the apartment in the automobile with Downey and Marshall about 8:30 last night. They told her they would go to a picture show and then stop at Cicardi's for dinner and would return about midnight.

Mottaz, at the hospital, said he had driven the party into St. Louis County and was returning home when the accident occurred. Their route, he said, was over Riverview Drive and through Ramona Park and Normandy. No stops were made, he said, and no drinks were taken. He said he was driving about 15 miles an hour and the street car was going about 30 miles an hour.

FLOUR MAY GO TO $10 A BARREL

Price Now Is $3 Higher Than It Was a Year Ago.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 27.—Local millers declared today that flour may retail at $10 a barrel in the near future if wheat prices continue to rise. A slump in wheat prices today prevented a further rise in flour, but quotations were firm at $8.80 for first patent grades in barrels in carload lots.

Flour is $3 a barrel higher than it was a year ago.

BUYS OLD SCHOOL SITE THROUGH SENTIMENT

Louis Renard Pays $15,075 for Property for Playground—Dent Mansion Sold.

Louis Renard of 4463 Westminster place, wealthy president of the Renard Linoleum and Rug Co., purchased today, at the Board of Education's real estate auction, the site of the old Franklin School, at the northeast corner of Seventeenth street and Lucas avenue, which he attended as an immigrant boy, 56 years ago, and where he learned the English language.

Renard said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that he made the purchase as a matter of sentiment, and that he intended to convert the property, which is now vacant, into a recreation ground for children, with a baseball diamond. The purchase price was $15,075.

"I came to St. Louis from Berlin, Germany, in October, 1866," Renard said. "I was 12 years old, and my parents were poor, so I knew I would have to go to work. But I couldn't get a job until I learned English, and so I became a pupil in the old Franklin School. I worked intensely to learn English, and by the next April I was able to get and hold a job as cash boy, at $2.50 a week. This was in George Jorgenson's dry goods store at Fourth street and Lucas avenue." Renard added that he later got a position in a house furnishing concern, and remained in that line of business.

The old Dent home at 701 South Fourth street, where Gen. Grant and Julia Dent were married in 1848, was sold to John H. Gundlach, who said he made the purchase merely as a real estate investment. He said, however, that if the Missouri Historical Society should wish to take over the property, as has been suggested, he would be willing to sell it to the society at what it cost him.

The Dent home and the house adjoining it on the south were sold to Gundlach for $4325. The bidding began with Herman S. Albrecht's bid of $1000. Albrecht said if he got the property at that price he would give it to the historical society, and he continued this assertion as he increased his bid, but he stopped at $2500.

The house was the city residence of Col. Frederick Dent. A wooden tablet on the front of the house bears the record of the wedding and its date, Aug. 22, 1848. The place has been a boarding and lodging house for many years, and is at present vacant.

The board's auction was held in the Real Estate Exchange, with A. R. Schollmeyer as auctioneer. Thirty-two pieces of property, improved and unimproved, were sold for a total of $132,604. Not more than 30 per cent of the proceeds can be expended for school purposes, Secretary Mason of the board said. The rest must be held in trust, and the income applied to school uses.

Mason said the property in outlying parts of the city brought fair prices, but that he considered the prices brought by the downtown property as rather low. About 250 persons were at the auction, including a number of women.

The vacant lot at the southeast corner of Fourth and Market streets, now used as a parking for automobiles, was old for $201 a Fourth street front foot, a total of $20,100 for the 100 fot frontage. It is 90 feet deep on Market street. The old Madison School building and grounds, at the northeast corner of Seventh and La Salle streets, sold for $7500.

Germans Rebuild Poniatowski Bridge.

BERLIN, by wireless to Sayville, Sept. 27.—The great Poniatowski Bridge across the Vistula at Warsaw which was destroyed by the Russians when they evacuated the city in August of last year, has been rebuilt. The bridge was reopened in the presence of Gen. von Beseler, the German Governor-General.

GERMANY TO INCREASE ITS ZEPPELIN WARFARE

Building New Super-Type Airships and Rushing Construction as Never Before.

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

BERLIN, by wireless to Sayville, L. I., Sept. 27.—Attacks by Zeppelins on London, Boulogne and Bucharest in the last few days, and the aerial duels on the west front, mark the renewal of the intensive aerial warfare. The favorable weather, in a long measure, has induced this aerial activity, and the Germans have taken full advantage of this condition to carry the war into the very heart of England with hitherto unknown severity, it is said, by super-dreadnought Zeppelins driven by Schelttlanz motors.

With America standing in the way of rigorous U-boat warfare, with which large sections of the German people believe England could be reached vitally, this energy now is being directed toward striking England from the air. The loss of two Zeppelins is regretted, but is taken as a matter of course. In navy circles it is declared that it is not to be expected that big airship fleets always can escape unscathed in view of the constant improvement and perfection of England's aerial defense system.

"That we have lost some airships is not strange nor surprising; that we may lose others is not precluded, but that the aerial war against England will continue and even be intensified is certain," said an official to me.

Germany's fleet of air cruisers is just commencing to grow rapidly, since the construction began of the new super-types of the Zeppelin of hitherto unknown dimensions, and capable of carrying many tons of explosives.

There is almost feverish activity in the airship building yards, as I had occasion to observe during the last few days. The number of men and women employed in airship construction now runs into the thousands. There are several school ships training Zeppelin officers and crews for war.

BANKERS WANT RAILROADS CONTROLLED BY GOVERNMENT

Resolutions Adopted by Kansas City Convention Also Ask for Other Federal Legislation.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 27.—Congressional legislation in regard to railroads which would make Federal control superior to that of the states is asked for in resolutions adopted and announced today by the savings bank section of the American Bankers' Association in annual convention here.

Other national legislation asked for includes the passage of laws retiring greenbacks and national bank currency and making burglaries against national banks a Federal offense. The officers named by this section were Joseph F. Calfee, St. Louis, president; J. Elwood Cox, High Point, N. C., vice president, and Jerome Thralls, New York, secretary.

FRENCH CONTINUE ADVANCE; BRITISH CAPTURE 4000 MEN

Fortified Wood East of Vermandovillers Taken by Gen. Foch's Troops Following Fall of Thiepval, Combles and Gueudecourt.

Entente Capitals Elated Over Two Days' Progress Which Menaces Bapaume and Peronne.

Bulgarians in Macedonia Compel Servians to Fall Back on Whole Front After Ten-Day Battle.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Between 3000 and 4000 prisoners were taken by the British in Monday's and Tuesday's fighting on the Somme front, in which the allied troops took Thiepval, Gueudecourt and Combles, according to a delayed portion of Gen. Haig's report of Wednesday night, which was given out today.

The French are continuing their successes. A brilliant attack east of Vermandovillers, south of the Somme, has succeeded in capturing a strongly fortified wood, according to the official statement issued by the Paris War Office today.

Gen. Haig's report said:

"The battle continued violently during the day over the whole front between the Somme and the Ancre. Our troops were successful everywhere, carrying out their attacks most brilliantly. During the last 48 hours between 3000 and 4000 prisoners were taken.

Further progress for the British is recorded in an official statement issued this afternoon, saying:

"Our troops made progress during the night particularly in the direction of Eaucourt l'Abbaye.

"Successful raids were carried out by us opposite Beaumont Hamel and in the neighborhood of Loos.

"Three hostile aeroplanes were destroyed in air fighting on Monday and six others were driven down damaged."

Combles and Thiepval Fall.

The British advance of yesterday was recorded in the following official statement issued last night:

"On our right French and British troops jointly occupied Combles as a result of the capture of Frelgicourt and Morval. We have beaten off heavy counter-attacks in the region of Morval and Lesboeufs, with severe loss to the enemy.

"In our center we stormed the fortified village of Gueudecourt and have driven the Germans back in disorder.

"On our left we captured Thiepval and the high ridge east of it including the Zollern redoubt. This ridge was very strongly fortified with an elaborate system of heavily wired trenches and was defended by desperation. The successes gained during the last two days may be regarded as of very considerable importance."

The French official report of last night said:

"The battle continued successfully today. North of the Somme the entente allied troops increased their gains of yesterday considerably, having attained within a few hours the objectives assigned for the second day of the struggle.

"This morning the French troops resumed the offensive and captured the entire section of Combles situated to the east and south of the railway. Our patrols entered in conjunction with the troops of the right wing of the British army, who were cleaning up the northwestern part of Combles. Shortly afterward the whole village fell into our power.

"The booty captured in Combles was large. The Germans had accumulated in the subterranean regions an enormous quantity of munitions and other supplies. We collected 100 wounded Germans who had been abandoned. Combles is filled with German corpses.

"This afternoon our troops captured a small wood situated north of Frestcourt, half way to Morval, and also the greater part of the strongly fortified ground between this wood and the western horn of St. Vaast wood to the east of the Bethune road.

"The number of unwounded prisoners captured since yesterday now reaches 1200. We have 30 machine guns."

Importance of Thiepval.

Thiepval's fall gives to the Anglo-French forces the whole line of low hills which slope to the plain upon which the town of Bapaume makes the next fortified center.

The progress made by the French beyond Bouchavesnes is regarded in Paris as one of the most surprising results of the operations. The hills which surround this village were swept on three sides by all the German artillery from St. Pierre Vaast Wood in the north to Mont St. Quentin in the south. Nevertheless, they were stormed and the capture of Hill 130, which threatens directly Allaines, paves the way for a vigorous enveloping movement around Mont St. Quentin and Peronne.

The French newspapers exultantly sum up the results to date of the great offensive as 44 villages and 190 square miles of territory conquered and 60,000 prisoners taken.

Berlin Says Allies Lost Heavily in Tuesday's Advance.

BERLIN, Sept. 27, by wireless to Sayville.—After unusually severe fighting on the Somme front, in which the entente allies suffered heavy losses, they captured Thiepval and gained ground on both sides of Courcelette, the War Office announced today. Attacks further to the east were repulsed by the Germans.

Gen. Averesco Tells of Defeat of Invaders in Dobrudja.

BUCHAREST, Monday, Sept. 25.—Details of the great battle on the Dobrudja front which lasted from Sept. 17 to Sept. 19 and ended, according to Gen. Averesco, in the decisive defeat of the Germans and Bulgarians, are given today in a War Office statement which runs:

"The supreme command learned on Sept. 17 that detachments of our forces had been compelled to retire before superior enemy forces and were falling slowly back, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy. Measures were taken to meet the situation and a desperate battle began on a front stretching from the Danube to the Black Sea.

"The fighting opened along the Danube, where enemy columns consisting mostly of Germans endeavored to force their way into Chernavoda. This effort was defeated by the splendid resistance of the Rumanians, who, with repeated bayonet attacks, supported by the fire of three monitors in the river, brought the advance of the enemy to a standstill.

"In two days' fighting of the most desperate character, the enemy suffered heavy losses, his massed formations being mowed down by artillery fire. In the center he was driven from trenches which he momentarily succeeded in penetrating, by the allied Rumanian, Russian and Servian troops.

"Finally at 9 o'clock in the evening of Sept. 19 the enemy onslaught reached its climax. The allies, by a formidable counter attack overthrew the enemy's right wing which fled in disorder. The enemy losses were very great, everywhere heaps of corpses were found and in front of one division alone 5000 rifles were picked up. The allied troops then advanced, driving the enemy before them."

WILSON PROMISES TO AID SEABURY IN NEW YORK

Candidate for Governor Holds Conference With President at Shadow Lawn.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Sept. 27.—Samuel Seabury, Democratic candidate for Governor of New York, who came to Shadow Lawn last night, held an early morning conference with President Wilson today and then departed for New York. He said he expected victory to result from the active campaign which will be waged.

President Wilson promised Judge Seabury his active co-operation in the New York campaign. It is probable that at a conference to be held late today between the President and Vance McCormick, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, definite plans will be made for Mr. Wilson to speak in New York. Mr. McCormick will remain here over night and discuss the political situation tomorrow morning with Secretary Tumulty.

It was agreed between the President and Judge Seabury that it is vital for the Democratic party to carry New York. Means of combating the effects of the coming State tour planned by Charles E. Hughes were discussed and it was agreed that the national campaign organization will co-operate with the State Democratic forces.

An elaborate program for the visit of the President to Omaha, Neb., Oct. 5, has been submitted to the executive office here. The program, which has not been approved by the President yet, includes a parade in addition to a speech.

The President played golf during the morning.

DEFENSE AND SIEGE OF THIEPVAL COST MORE LIVES THAN ANY POINT ON FRONT

British Soldiers Especially Pleased by Victory After Three Months' Effort—German Resistance Weaker.

By FREDERICK PALMER.
The Only American Correspondent at British Headquarters in France.

BRITISH FRONT IN FRANCE, Sept. 26.—The capture of Combles was one of the most picturesque incidents in the whole course of the great Somme offensive. It marked the opening of Tuesday's forward surge of the British and French forces, which reached its climax in the capture of Gueudecourt and Thiepval.

All night long bitter fighting had been in progress at various points on the front and at dawn the battle broadened to include the whole British left. Combles fell as the sun rose on a perfect summer day. Sitting in the midst of a heap of hills, the town was isolated yesterday by the seizing of the high ground on either side by the French and British. In the early hours of the morning the British took an orchard in the northern outskirts and then after a heavy preliminary shelling they charged the trenches on the edge of the village. The trenches were empty when they reached them. At the same time the French, dashing forward on the other side of the village, pushed victoriously forward into the heart of the village. In the main street the soldiers of the two nations met and joyously shook hands, calling out to each other "Parlez vous" and "How d'ye do."

Little Defense Is Made.

Combles had a labyrinth of dugouts and well-fortified cellars, but at the last practically no defense was made. Those Germans who had not managed to escape when the town was hopelessly surrounded were taken prisoner. One lot of Germans who were endeavoring to find a way through the encircling allied infantry walked into the British skirmishing line. The cellars and dugouts of the village were full of wounded who found security there from the furious fighting on the slopes and ridges.

Having cleared Combles of any stray Germans, the British and French moved on side by side to further attacks.

One of the most striking features of the fighting last night and today was the surprisingly slight resistance offered at Morval and Combles by the Germans, according to all reports made by the British officers. The Germans made the usual counter attacks against the British new positions last night, but the reports of the allied officers to headquarters agree that they lacked spirit. Some German trenches taken yesterday were lightly occupied or not at all. In other instances the allied commanders state that considerable bodies of Germans threw down their rifles promptly as soon as the attackers approached their trenches, although it was known that they had orders to stand to the last. Batches of prisoners have been coming in from all parts of the front throughout the day.

In their attack yesterday the British found the strongest defense made in front of Gueudecourt. There the Germans used their machine guns with the tenacity and unyielding courage which has hitherto characterized them. The British resumed the attack today and tonight all the village is in their possession. Both today and yesterday the Germans showed an inclination to withdraw their guns immediately they were in danger, evidently desiring to take no risk of losing any of their artillery. This sometimes leaves their troops in the front line unprotected by cannon fire and may account for the number of surrenders.

Whole Line Is Pounded.

In the meantime the British continue to pound the whole line with their seemingly inexhaustible supply of shells, leaving the Germans in doubt as to what sector will be the next to be attacked by the infantry. The first warning that the Germans have that the British seek to gain a certain frontage is a sudden increase of gunfire in that sector to a tornado under which it does not seem possible that a mouse could escape alive. Usually this is brief, compared to the old fashion of artillery preparation, while it lasts long enough to enable the British infantry to rush from their lines to German trenches, while all the German machine guns and rifle fire are stilled. It is amazing how the co-operation of infantry and artillery has improved by the battle practice of the offensive.

About midday today the British left had its turn in the region of Thiepval, at the other extreme of the battle front from Combles. Here the fighting line joins the old German front trench line and the Germans in their dugouts and galleries have fought with the skill and stubbornness which characterizes them in this kind of warfare. "They stick like glue to these dugouts," said one British soldier, "because they know that once they are pushed back we do not give them time to dig any more."

A blackish heap of dirt on the crest of a ridge is all that remains of Thiepval. On the top of that heap there still rise a few black sticks, tree trunks slivered and hewn by shell fire which have escaped being downed by a direct hit. On July 1 the first day of the great offensive, the British tried to take Thiepval and failed. On this height to the north the whole Anglo-French movement pivots to the bank of the Somme. The British, in fierce little attacks now and then, have whittled and sapped their way toward that precious high ground, the capture of which extends the German front of defense and endangers other German positions. Hand-to-hand, bomb-to-bomb, with every trick of the modern trade of war, Germans and British have fought over these seamed slopes as if the war itself was to be decided here.

Today, after another effort, practically all of the village, the whole defense and siege of which cost more thousands of lives than any in France is in British possession. This success is a source of greater satisfaction to the average British soldier than the taking of Combles or any other village or strong point in the nearly three months of continuous fighting.

British Have Taken 19 Villages.

Since the offensive began the British have taken 19 villages, and at some points their gains are now six miles in depth. Elation over today's and yesterday's work is greatest at the casualty clearing stations, where the red cost of victory is best measured. All surgeons report that the casualties have been surprisingly light. The weakening German resistance, which seems obvious to any spectator, is variously interpreted by the allied officers. Some believe that the Germans are merely making a rear guard defense of the lower ground while their main forces fall back to another prepared line of trenches stretching from Bapaume; others insist the unceasing hammer blows of the British and French are resulting in a decided softening in the morale and fighting power of their opponents. The soldiers in the ranks do not seem to be bothered with such speculations.

"Give us more weather like this and let us push on," is the prayer alike of the English Tommy and the French Poilu.

SAM WEISMAN INDICTED—BENCH WARRANT ASKED FOR

Sam Weisman, a tailor at 1312 Olive street, was indicted on three counts by the grand jury yesterday, and a bench warrant was asked for today, charging him with receiving stolen property.

Weisman was arrested Dec. 15 of last year, when the police were informed that his shop was being used for the receipt of stolen property, and policemen watched him packing bolts of cloth at an early hour of the morning.

Jacob Frank of 1504 South Broadway, Sam Singer of 624 North Vandeventer avenue and William Hehman of 1218 Franklin avenue, tailors whose shops have been robbed, testified to having identified bolts of cloth in Weisman's possession. Weisman also is a professional bondsman. He resides at 867 Catalpa street.

BREAD SIX CENTS IN CHICAGO

Price Raised by Largest Concern in City.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Increases in the price of flour to the highest point since the Civil War has been followed by an advertisement of one of the largest bread making concerns in the city that tomorrow it will increase the price of bread from 5 to 6 cents a loaf. Other bakers are expected to make similar increases.

Standard Minnesota patents, used chiefly in private consumption, was increased 30 cents a barrel to $9.10, and according to the bakers, will defeat the suggestion of the Woman's Association of Commerce that housewives offset the bakers' increase by making their own bread.

RED LIPS AND HEALTH

The first place that anemia, or thin blood, shows is in the lips and gums and the membranes that line the eye lids. You may be naturally pale and still be healthy but when these membranes lose their bright red color your blood is deficient in quantity or color.

Thin blood is a danger. It invites disease. The organisms of the blood fight off disease germs. Thin blood means less power to do this. For instance, when you cut yourself it does not heal so quickly if your blood is thin and weak.

To build up the blood there is one remedy that has been a household word for a generation, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They tone up the entire system, make the blood rich and red, strengthen the nerves, increase the appetite, put color in the cheeks and lips and drive away that unnatural tired feeling. Plenty of sunlight, good wholesome food and fresh air will do the rest.

Two books, "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat and How to Eat," give just the information that every mother of a growing girl needs. They are free. Write for them today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.—ADV.

AUTO IN WHICH FRANK LEWIS FLED IS FOUND

Bullet Holes in Back of Car Recovered on Road near South Park, Kan.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 27.—The automobile in which Frank Lewis escaped, after attempting to shoot Detective Harry Arthur here last Thursday, was found yesterday afternoon on a public road near South Park, Kan., 10 miles southwest of Kansas City. Bullet holes in the back of the car are supposed to account for two of the three shots fired at Lewis by Arthur.

The license tag on the abandoned car indicated that Lewis or one of his gang may have been in Granite City, Ill., across the river from St. Louis, early this month. The tag was taken from a machine stolen from B. C. Jenkins in Kansas City and found abandoned in Granite City about three weeks ago.

A number on the engine identified the machine found yesterday as one stolen from State Senator Crossley of Warrensburg, Mo., early in August. It had been driven 10,000 miles after it was stolen.

The Crossley car was abandoned early yesterday or late Monday night, the police believe. A milkman who passes the spot every day said he first saw the car yesterday morning.

Police records here show that when Jenkins' car was found in Granite City it had on it a license tag which aided in identifying Jenkins as its owner.

ORA LEWIS TELLS OF AUTO THEFTS

Easiest Way to Foil Robbers Is to Cross Spark Plug Wires, He Declares.

Preventing theft of an automobile is the simplest thing in the world, according to Ora Lewis, 19-year-old auto thief, charged with the murder of Policemen McKenna and Dillon. In the first interview which the police have permitted him to grant since he has been at Police Headquarters here, Lewis said today that the only thing necessary to make an automobile thief-proof is to cross the spark plug wires.

Seated in Chief Allender's office, with his legs crossed, smoking a cigar, Lewis discoursed on the business of thieving in the manner of a man who knows what he is talking about.

In stealing automobiles, he said, the essential thing was the quick get-away. The car was usually in a conspicuous place. Any tinkering by the thief would attract attention. The tinkering required to straighten wires that had been crossed would take so much time that cars with crossed wires would be perfectly safe from thieves, he said.

Magneto Locks No Protection.

Chief Allender asked him whether locks on the magneto switch were a protection.

"Those things don't protect the car at all," Ora said. "The magneto can be charged by grounding the wire or by compression. If the car is given a push, backward or forward, the gas accumulated in the cylinder will charge the magneto."

In answer to another question, Lewis said that only about one car owner in a hundred takes precautions against theft.

Chief Allender said it had been stated that the Lewis brothers' gains from theft were $10,000 in a year. He asked Lewis if that was true. "Well," said Lewis, "we got big money."

"What was the most that you ever had at one time?"

"About $250. That was only my share, you understand. It was split three ways, between Frank, Roy and myself. Last Christmas we had more than $130 apiece. Most of it was from the sale of stolen copper wire. The day the two policemen were killed we sold a lot of wire to a junk dealer. My share was $45. Frank gave his $45 to his wife, so that we only had $45 between us when we ran away. We had to beat our way on freight trains half the way to Oklahoma."

"How did you spend your money?"

"You've got me there. I don't know how it went."

Chief Allender suggested that a good deal might have been spent on two circus girls at Kansas City and on other girls. "Well, I guess they did get a good deal of it," Lewis said. "Now and then we lived pretty good. We never denied ourselves anything."

Lewis said he and his brothers had stolen about 25 automobiles. They sold none of them, using them for stealing copper wire and extra tires from other machines, which they sold.

Writ for Lewis Denied.

Judge Grimm today refused to issue a habeas corpus writ to take Lewis out of the custody of the police. He said Lewis would properly be in the custody of the police until the Sheriff saw fit to demand that he be turned over to him. Lewis' lawyer said that if the Sheriff did not demand the prisoner by noon he would ask for a mandamus writ to compel him to do so.

Lewis was in court when the ruling was made. About 100 persons sought admission to the courtroom, but only a few were admitted by deputy Sheriffs.

It was discovered today, on a reinspection of Frank Lewis' revolver, found at 4953 Athlone avenue after his flight, that there are two notches on the handle, as on Ora's weapon.

Chief Allender called attention today to the fact that in 10 years only two men have been given the death penalty by juries in St. Louis, and in each case the sentence was commuted on the ground that the punishment was excessive. The view taken by the Court in each case was that the individual crimes committed by the convicted men were not as serious as the crimes against society committed by highwaymen who had committed murder and had been let off with penitentiary sentences.

KING OF GREECE SAID TO BE READY TO ENTER THE WAR

Persons Very Close to Ruler Believe He Will Make a Declaration Immediately.

ATHENS, Tuesday, Sept. 26, 12:20 a. m.—In circles very close to King Constantine the belief is expressed that he will declare war immediately—possibly even this evening.

One explanation of the departure of M. Venizelos advanced is that the foreign Powers desire to nominate a Prefect of Saloniki, thus definitely bringing about the separation of the city from Greece, and that M. Venizelos, to save Saloniki to Greece, is going to a conference with the entente allied authorities there in an endeavor to arrange another solution of the situation. The general belief here, however, is that the visit of M. Venizelos is connected with an insurrection.

French Press in Athens Silent.

The French press of Athens, which for the last month has been sharply assailing King Constantine and flouting every suggestion that he could honestly be desirous of Greece joining the entente allies, is silent. The entire Greco-entente situation has changed overnight and it is reported that the entry of Greece into the war has suddenly become a mere question of days on the terms King Constantine indicated to the Associated Press Aug. 31, namely, a guarantee of the integrity of Greece and a loan sufficient to equip the army and cover the cost of remobilization.

The Associated Press learns that the coldness of the diplomats, the indifference of their Governments and the bitterness of the press of the entente Powers was due to a suspicion of the sincerity of King Constantine's desire to enter the war, which was based on a private conversation between the King and an entente diplomat almost a month ago, and which the entente Governments are said to have insisted on regarding as revealing the true attitude of the monarch notwithstanding repeated official and unofficial assurances to the contrary.

Franker Expressions Follow.

The publication of the King's declaration to the Associated Press first opened the eyes of the entente representatives to the possibility that they might be misjudging King Constantine, and finally led to franker explanations which cleared up the whole situation. The reiterated offers of the present Cabinet to reorganize itself to meet the desires of the entente by dropping any unacceptable members who might be indicated, to which entente Governments merely failed to reply, is said at least to be considered as an earnest of the sincerity of the Greek Government's intention and that the "silence" which was been inflicted on Greece since the fall of the Zaimis ministry is to end immediately.

The Royalist organ, Forward, in an editorial says that war should be declared on Bulgaria without waiting a mobilization unless the matter of the return of the Greek soldiers taken prisoner by the Bulgarians and sent to Germany is settled within a period of hours.

Greek King Said to Have Met Germanophiles; to Issue Proclamation.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—"The Greek ministerial council held in Athens yesterday evening," says a wireless dispatch from the Greek capital, "will be followed by the resignation of the Kalogeropoulos Cabinet and by the issue of a proclamation from King Constantine to the Greek nation.

"Immediately on his return from Tatoi to Athens the King was summoned to a secret council of the Germanophiles, Gen. Dousmanis, ex-chief of the Greek general staff, and M. Streit. Queen Sophia, sister of the German Emperor, was present at the conference."

St. Louisan Tells of Six Months' Experience in French Ambulance Corps

Elmore Bostwick Was Behind Lines During Germans' Heavy Attacks on Verdun.

ELMORE McNEILL BOSTWICK.

Elmore McNeill Bostwick of 68 Vandeventer place, son of the Public Librarian, has returned to St. Louis after six months of driving a hospital ambulance over the shell-shattered roads behind the battle lines in France. To a Post-Dispatch reporter today he described his work of carrying wounded soldiers from the trenches at Verdun to the hospitals in the rear. At noon he spoke on the same subject at the City Club luncheon.

Half of the wounded he picked up and started back with in the first two weeks of the great German offensive at Verdun died before he could get them to a hospital, Bostwick said. He had just arrived in France, when, on Feb. 20, the Germans directed against the French at Verdun the most terrific shell fire the war had known up to that time. This was followed by smashing infantry attacks which the French withstood only by the greatest sacrifices.

Fresh from Yale, where he had stopped his course at midyear, Bostwick, 24 years old, was hurried to the Verdun sector and given an ambulance to drive. For 14 days he was at the wheel an average of 19 hours a day, threading his way through darkness and light over roads which were the picked objectives of the German batteries. Shells fell all around him, tearing holes in the road, fragments sometimes hitting and damaging his ambulance.

Scenes Worst at Verdun.

He explained that the horrible scenes of battle described in his letters home, which were published in the Post-Dispatch, were observed in his first few days at Verdun, although the censorship required that when writing he should not mention names or places. After Verdun he saw service on the Somme and at Fleury, but this was unexciting by comparison, the great Anglo-French drive not having started at that time.

"At the beginning of the Verdun attack," Bostwick said, "the French were pressed to the utmost to hold against the powerful German army. The commanders had to raise their fighting force from about 200,000 to 1,000,000, and for two weeks things were considerably disorganized. It was cold, with snow on the ground, and food was short. The pounding of the German guns and the vicious attacks on the French trenches filled the medical posts with wounded. Our cars had to be in constant service, running 24 hours a day. At first we did not have enough drivers, so that each man often had to remain on duty 19 or 20 hours.

"The French had to counter attack. Sometimes 3000 men would charge a German trench and 1000 or more would be killed or wounded. In those days of intensely bitter battles it was hard to get the wounded out. Those who were able would crawl back to the French trenches. The others laid on the shell-raked fields waiting to be rescued, and often died before help came.

"The stretcher carriers bravely did the best they could, but they were not permitted to risk their own lives in almost certain death. If shell fire kept them all day from getting the wounded in front of their trenches, they would dart out at night, quickly loop a rope around the body of a wounded man and from the shelter of the trench draw him in. Many were saved this way.

Many American Cars.

"All wounded were first treated at medical posts maintained in the communicating trenches. They were then sent back to the trench entrances, where our ambulances called for them. We would haul from four to 10 men at a time, according to the size of the ambulance. Many of the ambulances were Fords, some were Packards and others were French cars."

Bostwick said the ambulance base at Verdun was at Recicourt, five miles back of the battle grounds. It was within range of the German guns and big shells often passed over it, falling in the villages beyond.

Bostwick explained how the site of the ambulance base was ingeniously selected to protect it. It was at the foot of a steep hill which caught most of the shells aimed at the military headquarters adjoining the ambulance base. Shells with trajectory enough to carry them over this hill could not fall on the ambulance base, but went many yards beyond it.

"The aeroplanes found us, though," Bostwick said, "and tried to drop bombs on us. That was very annoying but not so dangerous, as the bombs seldom fell close to us.

"We got so we did not mind the noise of exploding shells. The big ones fell all around and exploded with dull roars, but we did not mind. What was almost unbearable was the racket of the French batteries firing close at hand. Sometimes, as I drove along a road a battery of 75s, hidden on a high bank of the road, would begin firing, the shells passing over my head. It was a deafening, painful sound—the crack of a rifle magnified a million times."

Bostwick said the ambulance drivers and stretcher carriers treated French and German wounded alike, except that the latter were considered prisoners. He also believed the Germans showed equal regard for French wounded which fell into their hands. He said that after the worst of Verdun was over, the greater number of wounded carried back recovered. Many of the wounds were from shell fragments and shrapnel bullets, and were not very dangerous if promptly treated.

Bostwick said he was cited for decoration with the croix de vuerre, or cross of war, for untiring bravery on behalf of the wounded soldiers. He has not yet received the medal. While at the front he wore a service uniform of khaki, similar to the British officer's uniform. He was a member of the Harjes Ambulance Corps, organized by the Paris representative of J. P. Morgan & Co., which contained several other Americans.

EDWARD LEET PLEADS GUILTY TO A CHARGE OF EXTORTION

Will Be Sentenced Next Tuesday—Edward Lauterbach Says He Paid Defendant $100,000.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Edward Leet pleaded guilty before Judge Nott yesterday to a charge of extortion, made by Edward Lauterbach, a lawyer. He will be sentenced next Tuesday.

Lauterbach turned over to Assistant District Attorney Weller check stubs and vouchers showing he had paid $100,000 to Leet in the last 20 years as the price of silence after the blackmailer had threatened to charge the lawyer with being too friendly with Mrs. Leet. Recently when Leet is alleged to have threatened to kill Lauterbach if more money was not forthcoming, the lawyer appealed to the police.

Three wealthy men have told the District Attorney either directly or through friends that Leet blackmailed them out of sums ranging from $200 to $2000. One of them was the brother of a New York millionaire, another was once a candidate for Congress in Pennsylvania and the third is a prominent lawyer.

PROSPECT OF STRIKE CAUSES SHARP DROP IN HOG PRICES

Stockyards Dealers Offer Holdings Cheap in Order to Move Them Before Probably Tie-Up Friday.

With the prospect of a strike at the three big packing plants somewhat imminent at the National Stockyards, the price of hogs, which reached a record figure of $11.55 per 100 pounds a week ago, today dropped 20 cents from yesterday's price. The top price yesterday was $11.10. Today's top was $10.90.

The price had undergone a steady decline until today, which saw the biggest single decrease in many weeks. Some dealers, fearing a strike will tie up the packing houses and leave their stock in the yards, are offering them cheap to get rid of them.

A meeting of the packing house employes' union will be held tomorrow night, and it is regarded as possible that they will strike Friday.

Bathe Internally And Keep Well!

Nature has mightily equipped us all, old and young to resist disease—but she requires that we give her a chance.

We give her no chance if we permit the Lower Intestine to be more or less clogged with accumulated waste. Yet that is a universal condition today, as is proven by the number of laxative drugs that are consumed.

You can help Nature in Nature's most effectual way by Internal Bathing and in an easy, non-habit-forming way keep the Intestines as sweet and clean as Nature demands it to be for perfect health and surer defence against contagion. Over half a million keen, bright, healthy people testify to its results.

Just call at any Johnson-Enderle-Pauley drug store in St. Louis and request free booklet "Why Man of Today Is Only 53% Efficient." The most efficient device for Internal Bathing, the "J. B. L." Cascade, will also be shown and explained you if you so desire.

Mr. I. B. Logan of St. Joe, Idaho, writes:

"Dear Sir—While you have never solicited my testimonial, I feel it a duty that I owe to you to acknowledge what your treatment has done for me.

"I have suffered more than forty years from the most severe form of bilious headache. Have scarcely missed a month during all that time that I did not have a severe attack. The only way I could get relief was to get some purgative to act on the bowels. I could keep on my feet and attend to my daily vocation only by taking an aperient, a laxative or a purgative every day.

"Since coming in touch with your 'J. B. L. Cascade' I have not taken a single dose of medicine, have not had an attack of bilious headache and have never enjoyed such perfect health in my life, as I have for the past three months.—ADV.

Her screams attracted the attention of two passersby who rescued her from the quarry with ropes.

Mrs. Baker suffered contusions about the body. She said she had been separated from her husband for eight years and was discouraged by lack of employment.

HUGHES ADDRESSES WORKERS IN MILLS NEAR PITTSBURG

Nominee Goes in Auto Parade to Steel and Electrical Plants—Penrose With Him.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 27.—Charles E. Hughes entered the Pittsburg district soon after noon today. He was met at the station by a great crowd of Republicans from Western Pennsylvania, Western Ohio and Northern West Virginia and immediately began a tour of industrial towns, escorted by a parade of automobiles filled with his supporters. The line of march led through the East End residential district and then on to Homestead, where the gates to the big mills of the Carnegie Steel Co. were thrown open and the automobiles drove through.

The nominee spoke briefly at the Carnegie Library in the borough, and then passed on to Duquesne, where there was another trip through a Carnegie company mill and where another speech was made. Here the procession crossed the Monongahela River and entered McKeesport, where, after a trip through the immense National Tube Works, a reception was held in front of the Elks Club. A short drive took the party over the hills into the Turtle Creek Valley, where are the great electrical machinery manufacturing plants and where Hughes addressed a large gathering of workmen, principally employes of the Westinghouse Electrical and Manufacturing Co.

The nominee was joined on his trip here from Cleveland by Senators Oliver and Penrose and William Flinn, former Progressive leader.

GUARDSMAN WHO ACCUSED OFFICER GETS SIX MONTHS

Private Who Acted as Newspaper Correspondent Also Is Dishonorably Discharged.

COLUMBUS, N. M., Sept. 27.—Private Hugh Clark of Company D, Second Massachusetts Infantry, was sentenced last night to six months at hard labor in the disciplinary barracks at Fort Leavenworth, together with a dishonorable discharge from the service.

Clark, shortly after his arrival at the border, wrote letters to a newspaper of Holyoke, Mass., from which his company came, charging his company officers with neglecting the men and his Captain with appropriating company funds. These letters were published. Clark admitted their authorship and adhered to the charges. He was tried by a general courtmartial for conduct unbecoming a soldier. The guardsman's sentence was approved by the War Department.

NEU WILL GIVE UP HIS JOB AS PROVISIONAL JUDGE

Says He Has Had Enough and Will Ask Another to Take His Place.

HIS AGE IS IN DISPUTE

Prosecuting Attorney Sidener Ready to Act if Temporary Jurist Did Not Resign.

John Neu Jr., who has been Provisional Judge in the Court of Criminal Correction during the absence of Judge Calvin N. Miller, who is resting in Excelsior Springs, has had enough of the job. He told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that he would try to get another attorney, probably Rozier G. Meigs, 507 Chestnut street, to take his place tomorrow morning.

"I am tired of being defamed by the newspapers," said Neu, "and I will be glad to get out."

Neu's determination to quit the bench followed an announcement made this morning by Prosecuting Attorney Sidener that he would file suit in Circuit Judge Kimmel's court tomorrow to have Neu removed on the ground that he is only 28 years old, whereas the law fixes 30 as the minimum age for the judgeship.

Prosecutor Ready to Act.

Prosecutor Sidener said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that he would have taken the action today except for the fact that Judge Kimmel, who approved Neu's appointment when Judge Miller departed on his vacation, was not holding court.

Prosecutor Sidener had a talk with Neu in the morning. He asked the Provisional Judge if it were true that he was not 30 years old. Sidener says that Neu refused to make a definite answer. Sidener then suggested that Neu retire voluntarily, after pointing out to him that if he were only 28 all decisions rendered by him would be invalid and the State would be put to the expense of retrying the cases.

Neu then asked Sidener to give him until tomorrow to decide on what steps he would take.

Judge Kimmel told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he did not know Neu and that he had approved the provisional appointment at the request of Judge Miller.

Judge Miller told the Post-Dispatch over the long-distance telephone today that he appointed Neu at Neu's request. He said he had read of the controversies arising from Neu's decisions, but that he would not cut short his vacation on that account. He expects to return to St. Louis within a week.

According to the sworn statement made by Neu when he registered Sept. 21 in the Third Precinct of the Ninth Ward, he is 23 years old. Neu yesterday told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he was born in 1885 and was more than 31 years old. According to the birth records at the city hall a son was born to John and Marie Neu at 116 South Twentieth Oct. 21, 1888, 28 years ago. Judge Neu said his father's name is John, but that his mother's name was Elizabeth. Neu said his father is alive, but he would not give a reporter his address, saying that he did not wish his father to be disturbed. He said the John Neu referred to in the birth records is another John Neu.

Circuit Attorney Harvey said that he would not investigate the note from Beverly Brown, a saloon keeper, found Monday in Judge Neu's court asking "Friend Judge" to "please take care of case No. 11 for me." The case referred to was that of Walter Wascowitz, accused of petit larceny, who was sentenced Monday to 30 days in the workhouse and later granted a stay of execution. Neu said he did not read the note and that he was lenient with Wascowitz because he learned that the man's wife was penniless.

Says Husband Must Move Closer to Picture Shows to Get Her Back

—Gerhard Sisters Photo.

MRS. MILDRED CAVE BROOKS.

TELLS WHY SHE QUIT HUSBAND FOR STAGE

Wife of Jewelry Firm Head Says She Tired of Cooking for Farmhands.

It's 10 miles to the nearest picture show from the 1000-acre farm of Arlington R. Brooks, head of a St. Louis jewelry firm, who prefers the bucolic isolation of Wright City, Mo., to a home in the metropolis. That's one of the reasons why his young wife, Mrs. Mildred Cave Brooks, has left him and come to St. Louis for a stage career. She says she will never return to Wright City, but is willing to go back to her husband if he will take up his residence in St. Louis, where picture shows are as thick as tree stumps in the Wright City sector.

Mrs. Brooks, who has a minor role at a local theater this week, told a Post-Dispatch reporter yesterday of her life on the farm. She was married to Brooks seven years ago when she was 16 and he was 43.

Three years ago they removed to Wright City. Here she says she was the maid of all work, rising at 5:30 in the morning and preparing meals on a wood-burning range for her husband and a flock of hired hands. Most of her work was done by 9 in the evening. Her husband, she says, built a new barn for the stock while she was there, but compelled her to live in a house "as old as Noah's ark and with about the same conveniences."

About three weeks ago, Mrs. Brooks said, Wright City scenery and the night life began to pall on her and she departed for New York with the consent of her husband, who agreed to meet her there later. On Broadway she had a chance to get into a chorus, but didn't like the atmosphere, so she returned to the home of her mother in St. Louis at 5045 Delmar boulevard.

At the theater, Mrs. Brooks is cast in the role of a maid. A newspaper story had it that she played the part adorned with $5000 worth of jewelry. This Mrs. Brooks denies. She was a maid long enough in Wright City, to know that it is not being done. She declared, however, that she has about $6000 worth of jewels that her husband gave her. Yesterday she wired her husband for funds, but he referred her to his lawyer.

Brooks, whose jewelry business office is in the Globe-Democrat Building, Sixth and Pine streets, has been married twice before. His first wife died. He divorced the second, who married him when she was 16 and he 40. In the suit she complained that he compelled her to do all the housework and that he thought more of his horses than he did of her. Another allegation was that her mother-in-law disturbed her by rising at 2 a. m. to compose poetry.

Burglar Gets $2.65.

While Misses Pearl and Florence King, 6249 Von Versen avenue, were at the piano last night a burglar cut his way through the kitchen screen door and ransacked the house. He evidently wanted nothing but cash, as he ignored jewelry and took $2.65.

DON'T LET SOAP SPOIL YOUR HAIR

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in; about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—ADV.

ARGUMENTS BEGUN IN SUIT TO STOP HANK WEEKE'S PAY

Civic League Contends He Holds City Position Through Political Influence.

Arguments began today before Circuit Judge Cave in the suit filed by the Civic League to enjoin the city from paying Henry L. (Hank) Weeke a salary of $150 a month as Superintendent of Excavations.

The league contends that Weeke is holding office by temporary appointment in violation of the city charter, and that his appointment and continuance in office is due to his influence in the Republican party.

Assistant City Counsellor Griffin, representing the city officials named in the suit, said quo warranto proceedings should have been filed. He contended that as only one name was certified to by the Efficiency Board, it virtually took the appointive power away from the person on whom the charter conferred it.

Elmer E. Pearcy, attorney for the Civic League, said no appointment could be made in such a case except from the eligible list, and contended that Weeke was illegally holding his position. He stated that Weeke had no title to the office under the charter.

Weeke was not in court, but was represented by an attorney.

CUT THIS OUT

Old English Recipe for Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises.

If you know someone who is troubled with head noises, or Catarrhal Deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them, and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. Recent experiments have proved conclusively that Catarrhal Deafness, head noises, etc., were the direct cause of constitutional disease, and that salves, sprays, inhalers, etc., merely temporize with the complaint and seldom, if ever, effect a permanent cure. This being so, much time and money has been spent of late by a noted specialist in perfecting a pure, gentle, yet effective tonic that would quickly dispel all traces of the catarrhal poison from the system. The effective prescription which was eventually formulated, and ness will soon be extinct, is given below which has aroused the belief that deafin understandable form, so that anyone can treat themselves in their own home at little expense.

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose should begin to relieve the distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucous dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are often

4 PARTNERS TO BUY STIX'S INTEREST IN THE GRAND-LEADER

Holdings to Be Purchased Under Agreement Have a Value of $586,500.

Charles A. Stix's interest in the Stix, Baer & Fuller Dry Goods Co. (the Grand-Leader), the face value of which is $586,500, will be purchased by his four partners, in accordance with an agreement that if any partner should die the survivors would take over the ownership of his holdings to prevent them from falling into the hands of outsiders.

The money for Stix's share will be paid to his widow, Mrs. Sarah Fraley Stix of 26 Portland place. The purchase will not include 1500 shares of the stock, with a face value of $150,000, which is in Mrs. Stix's name, and which was not listed in the inventory filed yesterday. She will retain that interest in the company.

Capitalized at $2,500,000.

The total holdings of Stix and his wife represented 7365 of the 25,000 shares of the company. The capitalization is $2,500,000, the shares having a par value of $100 each.

Julius A. Baer, first vice president of the company; Aaron Fuller, second vice president; Sigmund Baer, secretary and treasurer, and Julius Baer, a stockholder, will be the purchasers of Stix's interest in the corporation. When the purchase is made these four will own 23,500 of the shares with a par value of $2,350,000, while Mrs. Stix will own 1500 shares.

Fuller would not make known the exact amount to be paid to Mrs. Stix for her husband's shares. On a par basis she would receive $586,500. Fuller said the stock was worth more than par, but declined to say how much more.

The Probate Court within the next few days will be asked to ratify the agreement of the surviving partners to purchase the Stix holdings.

Stix, according to the inventory, left an estate with a par value of $906,311.78. Mrs. Stix inherits the entire estate.

The inventory lists $62,963.13 life insurance, payable to the estate. At the time the will was filed it was said that in addition to this Stix carried $200,000 life insurance of which his wife was the direct beneficiary. ST. CHARLES BRIDGE DAMAGED BY FIRE, FERRIES IN USE

Steel Framework Still Standing and May Be Used in Reconstruction.

Following the burning, last night, of the roadway and woodwork of the St. Charles highway bridge, automobiles and wagons could not cross the Missouri River there. Motor boats and rowboats carried passengers across, and it was planned to install ferry boat service today.

The fire began at 5:30 last evening, near the first pier on the St. Charles end, and is supposed to have been caused by the dropping of a match on a new and freshly painted part of the structure. The St. Charles firemen saved the portion of the bridge between the first pier and the St. Charles end of the approach, but the wind swept the fire across the river and the center and St. Louis County end of the bridge were burned.

A number of shanties on the lowlands near the St. Louis County end were burned. The St. Louis Fire Department sent motor apparatus, but no effective use could be made of it.

As it stands today, the four-arch bridge has its former outlines. An expert examination will probably be necessary, to determine whether the steel framework can be used for a new bridge. The piers will be available in any case.

Telephone communication with St. Louis, which was impaired last night by the severing of the wires on the bridge, was restored today. A high-power cable line from the Keokuk dam, and cables of the Missouri Electric Co. were severed, and St. Charles streets were dark last night. The power supply to St. Louis and the county, from the Keokuk dam, was not seriously affected, as several other cables cross the Missouri River at other points.

Street care are running from Wellston to the St. Louis County end of the burned bridge.

The Wabash Railroad bridge at St. Charles had two serious accidents in its early history, the first in 1879, the second two or three years later. In each case, a span of the bridge fell under the weight of a freight train and lives were lost. In one case, the locomotive went to the bottom of the river and was brought up with the hand of the drowned engineer still at the throttle. After the second accident the bridge was reconstructed with steel.

The annual celebration of Old Settlers' day, which was set for tomorrow, will be carried out, it was announced, and the committee in charge expects to provide ferry facilities for vehicles. Speaker Champ Clark and Judge Henry Lamm are among the speakers scheduled, and there will be a parade of floats and decorated automobiles.

WESCOTT, WHO TWICE PUT WILSON IN NOMINATION, LOSES

Defeated at New Jersey Primaries for U. S. Senatorial Nomination by Senator Martine.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 27.—Senator James D. Martine won the Democratic nomination for United States Senator by a safe majority over John S. Wescott in the New Jersey primaries, according to a vote canvassed this morning. Wescott is the State Attorney-General and is best known as the man who twice nominated President Wilson. Returns from 723 districts of the 1893 in the State gave Martine 12,844 and Wescott 6687.

The vote of the Republican nomination for United States Senator is very close. Returns from 1388 districts give Joseph F. Frelinghusen 66,977 and Franklin Murphy 63,463. In the three-cornered fight for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, Walter E. Edge of Atlantic City was far in the lead when the returns from 982 districts were counted. H. Otto Wittpenn of Jersey City was unopposed for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

WOMAN AVOIDS OPERATION

Medicine Which Made Surgeon's Work Unnecessary.

"For two years I was feeling ill and took all kinds of tonics. I was getting worse every day. I had chills, my head would ache, I was always tired. I could not walk straight because of the pain in my back and I had pains in my stomach. I went to a doctor and he said I must go under an operation, but I did not go. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and told my husband about it. I said 'I know nothing will help me, but I will try this.' I found myself improving from the very first bottle, and in two weeks' time I was able to sit down and eat a hearty breakfast with my husband, which I had not done for two years. I am now in the best of health and did not have the operation."—MRS. JOHN A. KOENIG, 502 Flushing Avenue, Astoria, N. Y.

Every one dreads the surgeon's knife and the operating table. Sometimes nothing else will do; but many times doctors say they are necessary when they are not. Letter after letter comes to the Pinkham Laboratory, telling how operations were advised and were not performed; or, if performed, did no good, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was used and good health followed.

If you want advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

LAWYERS OPPOSED TO JUDICIAL PRIMARIES

Missouri Bar Association Recommends Law to Supplant Present System of Nominations.

The Missouri Bar Association, at the opening session of its annual meeting at the Mercantile Club, yesterday afternoon, took an emphatic stand against the nomination of judicial candidates at party primaries.

After adopting the report of the Committee on Constitutional and Statutory Amendments, which recommended the repeal of the law providing for the nomination of Judges of the Supreme Court, the Courts of Appeals and the Circuit Courts, the scope of the action was extended, on motion of James C. Jones of St. Louis, to include the Court of Common Pleas, the Court of Criminal Correction and Probate Courts in counties having a population of 100,000 or more.

Although Jones suggested that the essential thing was to repeal "the damned primary law," which would restore the common law right of party conventions without legislative action, the motion for the appointment of a committee to draft a repealing law provided for the framing of another law to take the place of the primary law.

The report of the Committee on Constitutional and Statutory Amendments was submitted by John I. Williamson of Kansas City. It advocated the calling of a constitutional convention for the revision of the State Constitution. The committee's recommendation of immediate revision of the civil and criminal code of procedure was temporarily withdrawn.

President Frank M. McDavid of Springfield appointed a committee composed of W. H. H. Platt, Kansas City; Hugo Muench, St. Louis, J. T. Gose, Shelbina; Robert Lamar, Houston, and Oak Hunter, Moberly, to devise means of making the work of the association more effective by the formation of local units throughout the State.

260 READY TO TAKE MILITARY TRAINING

Some High School Pupils Kept From Enrolling Because of Cost of Uniforms.

The Board of Education yesterday afternoon, on receiving a report from Supt. Blewett that 260 boys of a total of 3466 in the six high schools had enrolled in the military training course, instructed the Secretary to ask the War Department to send a training officer to St. Louis.

Supt. Blewett said today that, although less than 8 per cent of the boys had enrolled, the number was as great as he had expected at the beginning. Arranging the details for the instruction, he said, would be deferred until the training officer arrives.

The enrollment by schools reported is: Central, 38; Cleveland, 21; McKinley, 45; Soldan, 94; Yeatman, 22; Sumner, 40.

The prospect of having to pay for their own uniforms seems to have been the principal deterrent. The cost is about $21. Supt. Blewett said today, however, that it was not certain that the boys would have to meet this expense. The question was being considered by the Government, he said, and until a decision is reached no announcement can be made.

Inquiry made by Post-Dispatch reporters among high school boys disclosed that the question of cost kept many from enrolling and that there was objection also on the part of some to training after school hours. The training will take 84 hours from their play-time during the school year.

Thinking People Favor Cremation

In 1885 there were 28 cremations in America; more than 2000 in 1900, and in 1913, the last year for which records are complete, 10,183 people in the United States chose that their bodies be cremated.

THE trend in favor of cremation is growing rapidly. The process restores the elements of our earthly bodies to nature—to the sunlight and the air—in a way that is sanitary and economical, consistent with the tenderest sentiments of human love, and in accord with the doctrines of Christianity.

Frances Willard said

That in providing for her body to be cremated she was serving the cause of poor, oppressed humanity after her death, as she had tried to serve it in life.

A realization of the shocking desecration that burial in the earth brings upon the bodies of our dead, leads thinking people to accept the custom of cremation with a feeling of grateful relief.

ACHES AND PAINS

Don't neglect a pain anywhere, but find out what causes it and conquer the cause. A pain in the kidney region may put you on your back tomorrow. Don't blame the weather for swollen feet; it may be an advanced warning of Bright's disease. A pain in the stomach may be the first symptom of appendicitis. A creak in a joint may be the forerunner of rheumatism. Chronic headaches more than likely warn you of serious stomach trouble. The best way is to keep in good condition day in and day out by regularly taking GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL Capsules. Sold by reliable druggists. Money refunded if they do not help you. Beware of substitutes. The only pure imported Haarlem Oil Capsules are the GOLD MEDAL.—ADVERTISEMENT.

On Cheeks, Neck and Chest. Formed A Crust. Itched and Burned. Almost a Solid Scale.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"A breaking out which caused my baby much suffering came first in minute blisters on his cheeks, and spread downward covering his chin, neck, and chest. It formed a crust and his clothing seemed to aggravate it. The eruptions must have itched and burned. He was almost a solid scale.

"I picked up a paper with an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I immediately sent for them. I only used two cakes of Soap and one box of Ointment and he was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Jennie Vinson, West Pine St., Paxton, Ill., Jan. 28, 1916.

Gardner, candidate for Governor, on a campaign in tent meetings at numerous cities, ending Saturday, Oct. 7, at Rockport.

"This will be the end of my speech-making," he said in an interview, "and I will do a little gum-shoeing around and probably do more good than I could with addresses."

LAMM IN COLUMBIA SPEECH DISCUSSES STATE'S FINANCES

Declares That Money Which Gordon Says Is in Treasury Is All in Special Funds.

By GEORGE W. EADS.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 27.—Here at the seat of the Missouri University, former Judge Henry Lamm, Republican candidate for Governor, in his speech at the courthouse last night, drove home the fact that State finances are in such a deplorable condition that the curators of the university have been compelled to borrow money to run the institution.

"I challenge any member of the Democratic administration at Jefferson City to deny that the State now owes the great Missouri University more than $151,000, and that the State has been compelled to borrow this amount of money, on which the taxpayers are having to pay interest," Judge Lamm said.

The Post-Dispatch correspondent learned in Columbia that the State Government would be more than $200,000 behind with the university by Jan. 1. The method by which the university is being financed now is this: the curators issue the warrants, in the usual way, and these warrants are sent to Jefferson City, where there is no money to pay them. They are then taken by the treasurer of the university, a Columbia banker, who either lends the university the money on the warrants from his own bank, or obtains the money on the warrants from St. Louis trust companies.

Normal School Teachers Unpaid.

The reporter learned in Kirksville and Springfield that the two normal schools in those cities are not so fortunate as the university and that the teachers of neither school have received a cent of salary for more than two months.

Judge Lamm was greeted by an audience that filled the courtroom and all the halls and anterooms leading to it. He spoke yesterday afternoon at Centralia, a Democratic stronghold, to an audience of 250 persons. There are only 75 Republicans in Centralia, a town of more than 2000 population.

"We are told by the State Auditor in his speeches that there is $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 in the State Treasury," Judge Lamm said here. "Now, there is no denial of the fact that there are certain special funds in the State Treasury, such as money raised by bond issue for building the State Capitol, for the payment of interest and other permanent funds. But there is not a dollar in the general revenue fund, from which the running expenses of the State must be paid.

"Does the Democratic administration claim that it has money in the revenue fund? Does Auditor Gordon, who is running for re-election, say that? If the money is there, why does the State not pay what it owes the university? Why doesn't it pay the salaries of the normal teachers? Why does it not pay the $150,000 or $200,000 it owes to the Confederate veterans on their pension claims? Why does it not pay its share of the criminal court costs in every county in the State?

"The fact of the matter is the State is 'busted.' It was 'busted' so completely that the State officials reached out their arms and took $334,000 out of the public school fund—took it away from the little children of this State and returned it only when compelled to do so by the Supreme Court."

Judge Lamm charged that the State, owing to the extravagances of the Major administration, will be more than $2,000,000 behind by next January.

Quotes Indorsement of Major.

Judge Lamm, in the two speeches in Boone County, led up to the financial condition of the State by first reading and carefully analyzing the plank of the Democratic State platform which states: "We heartily approve and unreservedly indorse the wise, efficient and capable administration of Gov. Elliott W. Major."

"Now the Democrats, my friend Gardner, heartily approve and unreservedly indorse something," Judge Lamm said in a humorous comment on the indorsement. "Now take this word unreservedly. What does that mean? If two women who are not friendly meet each other, they are reserved. But unreservedly means just the opposite. Did you ever see a big goggle-eyed green bullfrog leap into a spring? Well, he goes in unreservedly, head over heels. Now the Democrats heartily approve and, as a bullfrog leaps into a spring indorse the wise, efficient and capable administration of Gov. Elliott W. Major.

"But there is something wrong about that plank," he said, seriously. "You could not get 100 Democrats together anywhere in the State that 95 out of 100 would not admit that there is something wrong at Jefferson City. That plank is a fraud and a sham, and an insult to the intelligence of the people of this State.

"Are we to have four more years of this same sort of thing if we elect Mr. Gardner? If he sets up the present administration as his model, are we to expect anything better from him?

"I have been asked what I would do if I should become Governor. It is no use for me to go into details now. I would find out what the Major administration has done, and I would go in the opposite direction as fast as I could."

Judge Lamm repeats his attacks upon the Gardner land bank bill in all of his speeches. His present plan of campaign is to indict the Democratic State administration, and convict it of extravagance and incapacity for managing the State affairs, and to convince the public that the land bank measure is unwise. Later in the campaign he proposes to outline his own program. William C. Askin, Republican candidate for Secretary of State; George E. Hackmann, candidate for State Auditor, and John C. McKinley are accompanying Judge Lamm on his tour this week. Judge Lamm was scheduled for a speech at Fulton this afternoon, and at Jefferson City tonight. He will speak at St. Charles tomorrow afternoon. Speaker Clark will also speak at St. Charles. For the first time in this campaign the St. Charles meeting, which is really an old settlers' reunion, will bring together on the same platform the leading wits of the two parties in Missouri.

SIDENER AND YOUNG PLAN CAMPAIGN AGAINST LID CLUBS

Prosecuting Attorney Sidener and Police Chief Young conferred today on a mode of procedure with regard to lid clubs, especially in the downtown district, in which there have been two murders in clubs of this character in the last few weeks.

Sidener advised the Chief to make frequent raids on the clubs and arrest everyone found there. He said he would co-operate with the police in trying to put the clubs out of business.

The principal difficulty in making a case against these clubs, Sidener said, has been that it is necessary to prove that intoxicating liquors were sold. After raids it has been found impossible to induce any of those arrested to testify that they bought intoxicants at the clubs.

Only One Varnish Would Stand This—Valspar

IS your woodwork varnished with Valspar? If not do you know what would happen if it got wet? It would turn white at the wet spots. You cannot even put a wet glass on a surface finished with an ordinary varnish. You would ruin it.

But water cannot conquer Valspar. You can pour boiling water on a Valsparred surface with no fear of hurting it. We do it every day in our tests. The sketch on this page is an exaggeration. Your children wouldn't do such a thing. But it wouldn't hurt Valspar if they did. That's the thought!

VALENTINE'S VALSPAR The Varnish That Won't Turn White

The use of Valspar means waterproof, washable, sanitary woodwork. No need of retouching or even oiling. A Valsparred surface can be washed with soap and water. And it always looks "dressed up".

The use of a good varnish means a bright, cheerful home. But never ask for just varnish. Ask for Valspar.

We sell Valspar. If it doesn't prove satisfactory, we'll refund your money. Try some today.

WOMAN KILLS MAN AND HERSELF AND WOUNDS ANOTHER

New Yorker and Companion, Thought to Be His Wife, Shot in Philadelphia Hotel.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27.—The woman who shot and killed J. C. Graveur, president of the Alhambra garage of New York, seriously wounded his female companion and then killed herself in a leading hotel here early today, has been identified as Mrs. Harry Belzer of 315 Euclid avenue, New York, by a sister of Graveur. This sister, Mrs. Frances Apman, came here today with Harry V. Fancy of New York, a business partner of Graveur, and made the identification at the morgue.

Mrs. Apman told the police Mrs. Belzer's maiden name was Margaret McAndrews, and that the woman had not been living with her husband recently. Graveur, she also told the police, was a widower and had been very friendly with Mrs. Belzer. From cards found in Mrs. Belzer's hand bag the police at first believed she was Mrs. J. C. Ledur or Le Duc.

The wounded woman in the hospital, at first supposed to be Graveur's wife, has not made any statement. Mrs. Apman will go to the hospital later in the day to see if she can identify her.

Graveur Noted in New York as Prison Worker and Humanitarian.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—J. C. Graveur was noted here as a humanitarian. For 10 years he was Chief Probation Officer of the Court of Special Sessions, until removed in 1911. He originated the Tombs prison school and was nationally known to prison workers. He was prominently connected with the Newsboys' Home.

The name Mrs. J. C. Ledur does not appear in the New York directory.

FREE MILK DEMAND GREATER NOW THAN IN THE SUMMER

Cooler Weather Fails to Lessen the Work for Poor Babies.

CONTRIBUTIONS.

Previously acknowledged	$3785 92
University City children	1 50
Total	$3787 42

There is even greater demand upon the St. Louis Pure Milk Commission for free milk now than there was in the prolonged heated terms of July and August, Secretary H. E. Mortland told a Post-Dispatch reporter today. Approximately 400 destitute and enfeebled babies are being provided with milk.

"Not only has there been no decrease in the number of cases to be supplied as a result of the recent cool spell," Secretary Mortland said, "but there has actually been an enlarged demand. Last month there was the largest proportion of absolutely free milk in the history of the commission, amounting to nearly 25 per cent.

Free to the Poor.

"It is furnished on that basis when it is impracticable for the parent or parents of the stricken infant to pay anything for it, and so long as the life and health of the little ones depend upon pure milk and we are able to supply it there is going to be no break in its diet. That is the way the low infant mortality rate of St. Louis has been brought about and it is the only way it can be maintained."

The Pure Milk Commission is sustained by the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund to whatever extent the amount of money raised will permit. Last year it received aid in the sum of between $2000 and $2500. Last year's total fund was little short of $5000. At this time the total is more than $1200 below that, and the only chance to make up the difference is by individual contributions from the men and women whose sympathies are with the infants.

Two More Benefits.

So far as the Post-Dispatch is advised there are but two other affairs planned for the benefit of the babies' relief fund this season, which is to close within a few days. The children can give no more time to the work, owing to attendance upon school. Saturday evening the sparkling operetta "Little Miss Muffitt" will be repeated in Harberger Hall, King's Highway and Von Versen avenue, and will be followed by a cabaret. In the latter more than a score of young girls, from the dancing schools of Jacob Mahler and F. Leslie Clendenen and Miss Lucille Lowenstein will take part, and a late addition is a specialty known as "Walkin' the Dog," a song and dance in which all of the older girls who are to appear in the "Bachelor Girl" sketch will participate reinforced by "Buster" Kaime and Catherine Arnold.

Monday evening, at Union Theater, Union and Easton avenues, the Walter Craig Musical Comedy Co., a product of the Craig School of Dancing and Dramatic Art and composed of talented children, will give the "musical review" with which it has gained much favor.

A charming entertainment on the Palmer residence lawn in University City, was given by the following little folks for the Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund: Katherine and Walter Palmer, Bob and John Jacobsmeyer, Violet and Paula May Leonard. The children produced their own dramatization of "Little Goldilocks and the Three Bears," and contributed several other numbers. The proceeds totaled $1.50.

EASTERN CORPORATIONS ASKING FOR SUPPORT FOR HUGHES HERE

Letters have been received in the last week by a large number of St. Louis business men, from eastern corporations with which they have business dealings, asking them to become "sustaining members" of the Republican party, at $10 per member.

A letter received by one St. Louis firm, from a large rubber tire concern, says that the Republican National Committee is making an earnest and strenuous effort to procure a large number of contributors to the campaign fund, "rather than a comparatively few, as has been the case in the past," and that every one who contributes $10 will receive an engraved certificate of membership.

"We request your earnest co-operation, provided, of course, that you are in sympathy with the movement," the tire firm says in its letter. The recipient is asked to send a check for $10, and to get another sustaining member," whose check for $10 shall also be inclosed in the reply. These are to be returned to Cornelius N. Bliss Jr., treasurer of the committee, 511 Fifth avenue, New York.

C. W. Collier to Handle Advertising for Kline.

Charles W. Collier, assistant secretary-treasurer of the Advertising Club and of the Junior Advertising Club of St. Louis, has resigned to take charge of the advertising of the Kline Apparel Company's store on Washington avenue. He will assume his new duties Oct. 1.

Collier was active in the work of the advertising club and was editor of the club paper. He was largely responsible for the organization of the Junior Advertising Club.

M'DANIEL TO HAVE HEARING TODAY ON MURDER CHARGE

Special Prosecutor Will Ask Court That He Be Held Without Bail.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 27.—Two legislative bodies were summoned here today to begin consideration of the case of Oscar D. McDaniel, Prosecuting Attorney of Buchanan County, who is charged with the murder of his wife. Indications are that the first of numerous legal skirmishes expected to mark the progress of the case with startling developments will take place over the prisoner's announced intention of making every effort to obtain his release on bond.

Preliminary hearing on the State warrant on which McDaniel is held is set for this afternoon. Bart M. Lockwood special prosecutor, announced that at this hearing he would ask that the prisoner be certified to the grand jury, which would operate to deny him bail until the grand jury had concluded its deliberations.

The grand jury was called to convene this morning, with the prospect that hearing of the numerous witnesses subpenaed by the State would require at least a week.

In charging the grand jury, Judge Ryan said: "The fact that Mr. McDaniel is now charged with this offense is no evidence of his guilt and should have no weight or consideration with you in your deliberations. Neither should you be influenced by suspicion, by public clamor or by newspaper reports."

Efforts to find the weapon with which Mrs. McDaniel was killed continue to occupy the attention of detectives. The police showed interest in the finding of a heavy bung starter, or mallet, in a trash pile on a vacant lot north of the McDaniel residence.

GIRL ENDS LIFE WITH POISON

Relatives Say She Was Despondent Over Man's Failure to Write.

Miss Viola Haddon, 24 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Haddon, killed herself by swallowing oxalic acid at her home, 4561 Easton avenue, yesterday afternoon. She died less than half an hour after taking the poison.

Two weeks ago, members of her family say, Miss Haddon showed signs of despondency and told a friend, Miss Esther McBride, that she would kill herself if John Fisk, with whom she had kept company for three years, did not write to her soon. Fisk left St. Louis five weeks ago, accompanying a sick brother to Kansas City.

Miss Haddon left two letters, one to her mother, disposing of her personal effects and asking that no blame attach to Fisk, "as others have come between us." A letter addressed to Fisk in Kansas City was turned over to the Coroner.

OWNERS OPPOSED TO PAVING

Object to Proposed Improvement on Union Boulevard.

Objections to the repaving of Union boulevard with wood blocks from Page to Delmar boulevards, were made by several property owners and by attorneys representing real estate companies, when the bill authorizing the improvement was considered by the Board of Public Service, yesterday.

The opponents of reconstruction contended that the present paving is good and will be serviceable for many years. The assessment of special taxes for new paving, they said, would be a hardship on owners of property in the proposed benefit district. The cost of the work is estimated at $43,750. This would be raised by special taxes of $2.87 a front foot and $1.02 a square foot.

NEW EFFICIENCY BOARD RULING

No Examinations When There Is an Eligible List Ready.

The Efficiency Board, by unanimous vote yesterday, decided to discontinue examinations of applicants for jobs for which there are lists of eligibles. The examiners of the board and several other employes will be put to work on the classification and standardization of the city service.

Chairman Hertenstein says he will ask Comptroller Player's permission to use for the expenses of classifying and standardizing the funds originally appropriated to meet the cost of examinations. Except for three places of superintendents, for which examinations will be held next week, there probably will be no others for several months.

Keeps Her Four Children Always in Perfect Health

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the Family Laxative for Many Years.

Mrs. Aug. Doellefeld of Carlyle, Ill., recently wrote to Dr. Caldwell at Monticello, Ill., that she has used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in her home for a number of years and would not be without it, as with it she has been able to keep her four children in perfect health.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that acts on the bowels in an easy, natural way, and regulates the action of this most important function. Nearly all the sickness to which children are subject is traceable to bowel inaction and a mild, dependable laxative, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, should have a place in every family medicine chest. It is pleasant to the taste and children like it, and take it readily, while it is equally effective for adults.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold in drug stores everywhere for fifty cents a bottle. To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure you get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

CLAYTON CRITICISES ST. LOUIS' FAILURE TO EXTEND TRADE

Alabaman, Author of Antitrust Act, Speaks at the Mercantile Club.

Federal Judge Henry D. Clayton of Alabama, former chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the lower house of Congress and author of the Clayton antitrust act, threw what he termed "brickbats" at St. Louis in a speech at the Mercantile Club today. Judge Clayton came to St. Louis to speak before the Missouri Bar Association tomorrow of "Court Efficiency."

Judge Clayton, after describing the natural advantages of St. Louis, and saying that he hoped the city never would fall below fourth place and eventually climb to the top, added:

"I never did like the little dude, loudly dressed and well powdered, who stands around the theater to hand bouquets to the actress who sings well. I have handed St. Louis all the bouquets I am going to hand her.

Says South Is Friendly.

"Commerce ought to flow naturally from St. Louis to the South. There is no part of the country where you will find such a friendly sentiment toward St. Louis. There are great agricultural enterprises, mineral and timber wealth that ought to be financed from St. Louis, to say nothing of great livestock interests. The Missouri mule has played a conspicuous part in the development of the country. But St. Louis seems to have forgotten that the auto truck is here permanently and is going to supplant the Missouri mule.

"When a big fellow, such as your city, goes to sleep and continues to sleep he ought to have a brickbat thrown at him. Don't hit him on the head, oh, no! But on that part of the anatomy which Henry Ward Beecher described as having been made to be spanked.

"What can we in the South do? We want to trade with you. We want to do business with you. You are making, I understand, one good low-priced automobile, but what are the farmers of the South to do when they want to buy a 'tin lizzie?' They have to go elsewhere. If we want to buy a high-priced machine we have to go elsewhere.

"If in this twentieth century we want to buy a nineteenth century mule there is nowhere on earth that we can find better ones than in St. Louis. But old 'Selam' and 'Fanny' are playing a minor role now, and the mule will continue to play a lesser role in the handling of traffic in the cities. The farm tractor is here and the farms are going to be plowed with machines. St. Louis needs to get busy.

Only Shoes and Beer.

"Now, I hope you will accept this talk in the spirit in which it is given, and reach out to your friends that want to come to you. What city can beat St. Louis in the manufacture of shoes? Are you going to permit it to be said that St. Louis can excel only in the manufacture of shoes and shoes? Your friends in the South long for you to come to them, as you should come."

Judge Clayton closed his address by stating that he hoped St. Louis would soon come into a realization of what she wishes to be and ought to be.

MORE MILITIA ORGANIZATIONS ARE ORDERED TO THE BORDER

Units From 13 States and District of Columbia Are Told to Move.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—National guard organizations from New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, District of Columbia, Virginia, New York, Alabama, Georgia, Connecticut, Florida, Michigan, Minnesota, Colorado and California were ordered to the Mexican border today by the War Department.

Instructions were sent to Gen. Funston, ordering him to select upon the arrival of these organizations at the border 10,000 national guard infantry now on duty there and return them to state mobilization camps. Battery A, field artillery, Maryland, it was announced, will be returned to the State mobilization camp and mustered out of the Federal service.

Some 6000 guardsmen will be sent to the border. The order will send South virtually all of the guardsmen now in the mobilization camps of the states named and will leave only about 10,000 state troops in all the country that have not seen service on the border.

Within a short time the remainder probably will be ordered out, releasing more of the organizations now under Gen. Funston's command. The gradual return and mustering out of all the guardsmen then is expected to begin.

WOMAN IN BLACKMAIL CASE RELEASED ON BOND

Merchant Accused Buda Godman of Taking Part in $15,000 Swindle.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Buda Godman, who is accused of having entrapped Edward R. West, a wealthy merchant here, into a violation of the Mann act and paving the way for three of her men confederates to extort $15,000 from him, was released on $2500 bond yesterday after being questioned by investigators for the Department of Justice.

West said he and the woman were brought from New York to Chicago in custody of the blackmailers, who, he thought, were agents of the Department of Justice, taken into the Federal building here and to the very door of the Government investigators before he decided to give over the money to save prosecution.

State's Attorney Hoyne ordered the arrest on State warrants of all persons implicated in the swindling of West. These are, according to Government officials, George Irwin, Homer T. French, Doc Brady, James Christian and Buda Godman.

LIQUOR MEN AGAINST CABARET

Illinois Dealers Want Better Moral Conditions in Saloons.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Sept. 27.—The Illinois Liquor Dealers' Protective Association today decided to advocate legislation which would give citizens the power to impeach city officials conniving with saloon keepers in permitting immoral conditions to surround their business, having especial reference to the maintaining of women entertainers as lures for men's drinking patronage.

It was charged that where immoral conditions were permitted graft was paid. The association demanded the abolition of the cabaret in connection with the saloon business. Rudolph von Aichen of Peoria was elected vice president.

EXPERT SAYS SMOKE INCREASES LIVING COST

Declares Prospective Residents Soon Will Inquire Into City's Sootfall.

Within a few years persons removing from city to city will ask about the sootfall, just as today they inquire about the climate, in the opinion of John J. O'Connor Jr., of Mellon's Institute of Industrial Research, University of Pittsburg, who is attending the Smoke Prevention Association's annual convention at the Planters Hotel.

"The establishment which makes objectionable smoke not only causes annoyance to the individual living next door, but to the whole community," O'Connor said to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "Therefore, when a smoke inspector proceeds against the violator of the ordinance he is doing so not on behalf of either a cranky, pesky, irrational or jealous individual, but on behalf of the whole community."

O'Connor superintended the gathering of data on sootfall in a number of American cities, among which was St. Louis. The test here was remade, as it was said that a top was allowed to remain on a jar, thus preventing that unit from being counted in.

"From April, 1912, to April, 1913, a sootfall study was made in Pittsburg in connection with the smoke investigation of the Mellon Institute," O'Connor said. "For this study glass jars approximating four inches in diameter and 10 inches in depth were used during the summer, and copper cans the same size, tinned inside, in the winter time.

"These jars were collected at the end of each month and the solid contents weighed. At the end of the year the samples were analyzed and the percentages of tar, ash, fixed carbon, iron dioxide in ash and iron dioxide in the center deposit were calculated. The estimated weights of the samples showed that the sootfall of Pittsburg varied from 595 tons a square mile to 1860 tons."

O'Connor did not think it would be fair to any of the other cities, which have just completed their soot-fall tests, to give out the figures at this time. "But the fact that a few cities in this country have joined in a study of this kind holds out hope of a more exact study among a great many cities in the very near future," he added.

"It is diffused smoke that decreases sunshine and depletes daylight, prolongs fogs, retards the growth of vegetation, destroys building materials, is harmful to health and increases the cost of living along all lines," he said.

TELLS CITY CLUB CHINESE WOMEN DRESS MOST SENSIBLY

Former St. Louisan, Now Physician at College in Pekin, Talks on China.

Richard A. Bolt, a former St. Louisan, now a physician in Tsing Hua College at Pekin, China, in an address at the City Club luncheon yesterday, said that after a study of the modes of women's dress in China he had concluded that the Chinese women dress more modestly and more sensibly than the women of any other country.

His subject was "China Old and New." He showed stereopticon views of all phases of Chinese life. He said he regarded Japan's ruthless domination of China's commercial life, through taking advantage of the war in Europe, as a menace to the future of civilization.

The college with which Dr. Bolt is connected is maintained from the indemnity fund returned to China by the United States after the Boxer trouble. Dr. Bolt is a son of R. O. Bolt of 5610 Bartmer avenue.

NIGHT-BLOMING CEREUS PRODUCES 60 BLOSSOMS

It Belongs to Emil Fischer, Official Florist of Piasa Chautauqua.

Emil Fischer, the official florist of Piasa Chautauqua, famed as the wizard of the night-blooming cereus, was late with his annual cereus show this year. His plant did not bloom until after the season had closed, but when it did bloom a few nights ago it made up for lost time. There were 60 blossoms on the plant.

Fischer raised a plant a few years ago which bore about 100 blossoms, which was a long way better than any Shaw's Garden plant had ever done. That plant's supreme effort was fatal. It died. The present plant, Fischer thinks, has not reached its maximum productivity. He expects it next year to break all records.

CROW INDIANS SELL BIG SHIPMENT OF CATTLE

Dispose of 34 Carloads, Which Were Raised on Reservation Ranges.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Thirty-four carloads of cattle from a shipment of 51 cars, 17 of which were sold at Omaha, were sold at the market here yesterday by Indians from the Crow reservation in Montana, the first important sales from an investment of funds derived two years ago by the sale of lands from the reservation. The 51 cars brought $37,903.

E. Cato Sells, United States Commissioner of Indian Affairs, supervised the sale. He said it was the first direct benefit the Indians had received from the Government policy of using the grazing lands on the reservations for the benefit of the Indians.

"All of these cattle were range-raised and grass-fed," he said. "Not a pound of corn or other feed than grass or hay has been given them."

Why Duffy's Pure Malt is a Medicinal Whiskey

The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co.
Gentlemen—I have had occasion to use your product in my practice and the results have been so favorable in the cases where I have used it since it was brought to my notice, that I shall have no hesitancy in recommending it for medicinal purposes.—(Name on request) M.D. Ph. G.

Some may say all whiskies are alike, but they are not, as experience proves. As a rule, the beverage whiskies of commerce contain elements which should never be administered to the sick and the aged. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is made purposely to meet all the requirements of the bedside by its purity and wholesomeness. It is of light amber color, is pleasant to the taste, has an agreeable odor and may be retained by the most delicate stomachs when other foods are rejected.

It is recommended only in illness, and always in medicinal doses, and as physicians invariably prescribe it in this way.

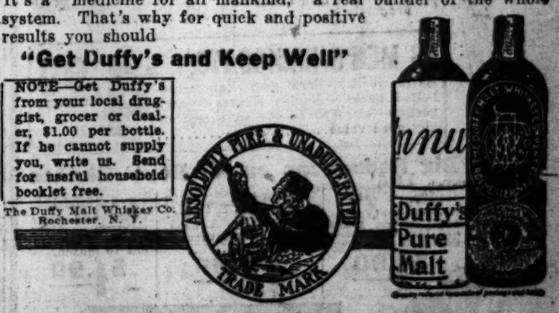

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is a household necessity and no medicine chest should be without it. Duffy's is invaluable as a remedy for diseases of the throat and lungs, colds, grip, pneumonia, dyspepsia and stomach troubles. It's a "medicine for all mankind," a real builder of the whole system. That's why for quick and positive results you should

HARCOURT MELODRAMA AN ACTOR-MADE PLAY

Author of "A Pair of Silk Stockings" Disappointing in "The Intruder."

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Cyril Harcourt, the English playwright, who two seasons ago placed an amusing farce to his credit in "A pair of Silk Stockings," paid a compliment to the patience and good nature of a New York audience last night when he submitted for its inspection his melodrama, "The Intruder," at the Cohan & Harris Theater.

If ever there was an actor-made play this is the one. There is not a character in it which bears the slightest relationship to human beings. The resounding speeches which they are required to deliver are written in most flowery rhetoric. Such a piece could not have been written except by someone whose observation of human nature is confined to the four walls of a theater.

On a triangular foundation is laid this tale of dramatic woe, which has Paris as its locale. Rene Levardier left 200,000 francs in his library table drawer on the night he went to Fontainebleau—the night George, his dearest friend, was calling on Mme. Levardier.

The dear friend remained later than was wholly discreet. That same night a thief stole the money. He also observed the irregularity in the Levardier household. Blackmail followed. George was suspected of the theft. Mme. Levardier confessed to save her lover, etc., etc., etc.

Thus traveled the story around the three sides of the triangle, through three dreary, preposterous acts, to the accompaniment of sobs, moans, gurgitations and other dry-eyed manifestations of tumultuous woe.

The second act came to life for a few moments by grace of the skilled acting of H. Cooper Cliffe in the role of the thief and blackmailer. But Miss Olive Tell and Frank Kemble Cooper could not give what preceded or followed even a semblance of reality. Every wheel in the transparent mechanism of the piece was worn out and discarded half a century ago.

Kosloff Russian Ballet, at Columbia, a Beautiful Exhibition.

A remarkably beautiful exhibition of Russian dancing, by Theodore Kosloff and his six associates, forms the sixth act of this week's vaudeville bill at the Columbia Theater. Nine musicians are on the stage, and the musical setting is from the works of Tchaikowsky, Brahms, Delibes, Stravinsky and Grieg.

The Kosloff dancers do not undertake elaborate pantomime or dramatic portrayals. Their dancing is primarily a series of feats of grace and agility, though in one dance, the Delibes "Ecstasie d'Amour," the love theme was manifest. In this and other dances, Vlasta Maslova appeared as Kosloff's partner. Kosloff's legs, bare in the Delibes dance, were painted, according to a printed announcement, in oils. The effect was somewhat like that of the faun's decorated limbs in the Diaghileff ballet. A peasant dance, with balalaika accompaniment, was one of the most enjoyable of the numbers, and a solo dance, with pizzicato accompaniment by Delibes, was executed by Natasha Rombova, who looks like a more youthful Pavlowa.

The descent from this charming performance to the "college boy" act which followed it was terrific. It was an extreme example of the contracts which occur in vaudeville. Paul Gorden's wire act, in which he interposed the interior of a barrel between the wire and his feet, was very skillful, and Smith and Austin had a capital nonsense skit. Lydia Barry spoiled what might have been a good series of songs and imitations, by offensive touches of burlesque and meaningless lantern slides.

Billy Kent, Promoted, Scores in "The Henpecks."

Billy Kent, a trifle nervous over the fact that he has been made the leading comedian of the musical stock company at the Park Theater, appears at that show house this week as Henry Peck, a role originally played by Lew Fields, in the musical comedy, "The Henpecks." He scored a hit with the large and friendly first night audience.

Sarah Edwards, as Henry's wife, and Harry Fender, Florence Mackie, Janet McIlwain, Margaret Helmueller and Josephine du Bois as his children, all did well. Several songs, which were not sung in the original presentation of "The Henpecks," were interpolated with good effect.

STIELOW SEEKS A NEW TRIAL

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Efforts to obtain a new trial for Charles Stielow, under sentence of death for the murder of Charles B. Phelps and his housekeeper, Mrs. Margaret Wolcott, in West Shelby March 21, 1915, were resumed today before Supreme Court Justice Rodenbeck.

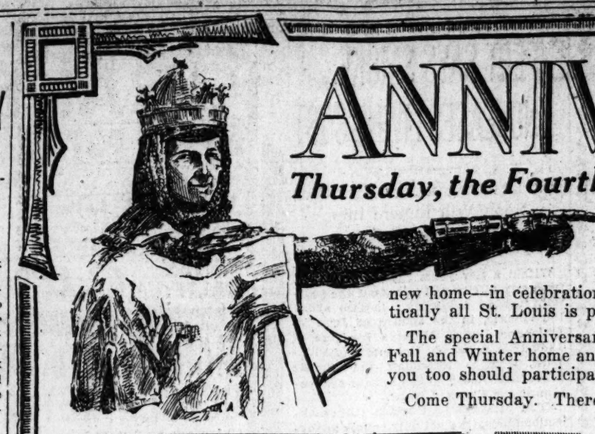

Much of the new evidence filed by the Stielow forces seeks to place the murders on Erwin King, an itinerant horse peddler, and Clarence O'Connell, his alleged accomplice. King repudiated a confession attributed to him, in which he said he and O'Connell killed the West Shelby couple.

HUGHES ASKS WILSON ABOUT LIND'S MISSION

Challenges President to Deny Telling Envoy to Say Huerta "Would Be Put Out."

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 27.—Charles E. Hughes ended today his second campaign in the Middle West. He will return on his third and last campaign trip in this section early in October. Mr. Hughes left Cleveland at 7 o'clock for Pittsburg. The nominee will leave Pittsburg at midnight and will speak tomorrow morning at Trenton, N. J., and tomorrow night at Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

In a speech here last night the Republican nominee challenged the administration to deny his charge that John Lind was authorized by President Wilson in 1914 to say to "the Minister from a foreign Power in Mexico" that Huerta would be "put out" of the presidency of Mexico if he did not voluntarily get out.

In the same speech, Mr. Hughes lauded Myron T. Herrick, sitting on the platform with him, for the manner in which he discharged the duties of Ambassador to France in the early days of the war and declared that the appointment of a man to succeed Mr. Herrick "in a time of great emergency" would "ever remain a blot upon the present administration."

The speech here was the last of eight delivered during the day. Among them was an address at Toledo before employes of a large automobile plant, during which a number of workmen he addressed cheered repeatedly for Wilson. This meeting closed with a volley of questions from the edge of the crowd prompted by his attack on the administration for the Adamson law and by uncomplimentary reference to the nominee himself.

Asked About Hat Case.

"What about the Danbury hatters' case?" was the chief question. One man started it, others took it up and when the nominee closed his speech the words were echoed by many voices. Mr. Hughes heard the commotion and thinking that it came from men on the edge of the crowd that had not heard his reference to the Adamson law, said:

"If you will tell my friends over there what I have said I think they will understand my views."

Mr. Hughes' challenge to the administration was part of attack on the administration for its Mexican policy.

"We cannot maintain our just influence on this hemisphere in connection with our sister republic unless we are correct in our international attitude and careful and correct in our international policy," he said. "That is the deplorable thing about the conduct of our affairs in Mexico. We have followed no intelligible policy. We have not justified ourselves to those acquainted with international law. We have not satisfied our ideals. We have not won the friendship, but rather lost the friendship of those who are in the sister republic of Mexico torn by disturbance.

"Only the other day we had a very clear statement of the principle that should govern us in this matter and in similar matters. It is a statement which comes from the head of the administration and it is very clearly put.

"It says, referring to Mexico: 'We have professed to believe that every nation, every people, has the right to order its own institutions as it will, and we must live up to the profession 'n our actions in absolute good faith.' That is the principle. I deeply regret that that principle was not followed.

Brings Up Lind Case.

"I have here the statement of the policy of the administration as it was set forth in the early part of April, 1914. John Lind was authorized to make this statement to a Minister representing a foreign Power in Mexico: 'Huerta will be put out if he does not get out. That it is the preference of the President that it be accomplished by domestic means if possible, but if it cannot be done by domestic means, other means adequate for the purpose will be resorted to.'

"That is a declaration of personal war upon Huerta to be carried to the conclusion of elimination, despite the statements that we have made and the representations that we were to recognize the sovereignty of Mexico and not attempt to interfere in the conduct of her affairs.

"Now, I referred to this the other night, and a leading organ in New York City, which is a very strong supporter of the administration, at once inquired through its representatives whether or not that statement would be denied. According to the report in this newspaper in New York, it was said that the charge would be answered by the Secretary of War, perhaps, or by the Secretary of the Navy. It did not say that it would be denied. It made the ambiguous statement that it would be answered. I have read that as a statement of what John Lind was authorized to say to a Foreign Minister, and I now challenge the administration to deny that that authorization was given."

Mr. Hughes' reference to Mr. Herrick was as follows:

"In his presence I also desire to say that we have had no one in recent years who so commended himself to a foreign nation, who so entirely won their confidence and raised America in the esteem of a great people by his executive capacity, who was trusted perhaps as no diplomat was trusted before in a time of great emergency—I want to say in his presence that we have had no diplomatic representative reflecting greater credit upon the country than Myron T. Herrick, the next Senator from Ohio.

"I say this not simply to pay a just tribute to a man who stood in a difficult hour, the embodiment of poise, and received the confidence of the people to whom he was merely a Foreign Ambassador. I say it not simply as a tribute, but to point a lesson. It does not make any particular difference that it was France, it is not the point that it was Herrick, it is not the point that it was this country or that country; but I say that at a time of war to have this country represented in any foreign capital of a belligerent nation by a man so loved and trusted as he was, was of the first importance to this country, and it will ever remain a blot upon the present administration that it suffered him to be superseded at that critical time.

"That is not the way to advance American interests. I venture to say that no one great nation, except our own, would think of doing anything of that sort. And I desire to say that if I am vested with executive responsibility I shall regard it as my highest duty to see that both in the State Department and in our representation in other countries, great and small, America is represented by her best."

"The Vocalion's sweet tone answers your mood —it is as though you were singing . . . . ."

The AEOLIAN-VOCALION

The Greatest Instrument of the Phonograph Type— Play It and You Will Understand

THE talking machine was a dream in the minds of a few men —a curious toy to the world—within the memory of the present day public. And all will recall how interesting were those first crude machines, those scientific marvels of earliest days. But with the rapid development to the fine modern instruments, how quickly we have learned to be critical!

Musical quality we now demand of the mechanism which but a few brief years ago held no artistic interest at all. And that demand has found response.

Today—in the final phase of development of the phonograph, The Aeolian Company, the world's greatest music concern, has produced a wonderful new instrument—the Aeolian-Vocalion—A TRUE MUSICAL INSTRUMENT.

By it are sounded the purest tones of voice and instrument—such tones as you never have heard from a phonograph before. You will wonder at the mellow notes of the woodwinds, the militant peal of the brasses, the clear sweetness of soprano and tenor, the vibrant richness of baritone and basso. . . . .

But the revelation comes when you find these beautiful tones answering to your mood—when you take the Graduola, the exclusive Vocalion expression device, and by delicate, instinctive pressure shade each tone to whispering sweetness, or swell it to vital brilliance. When you realize that you are playing—that you have gained the thrilling pleasure of musicianship—then you will understand the revolutionary significance of this remarkable new instrument—the Aeolian-Vocalion. Then you will begin to see the greater destiny of the phonograph.

THE THINGS YOU WANT TO KNOW

The story of the Vocalion is too big and important to be more than suggested in the present limited space. You must see and try the Vocalion—play it yourself—to grasp and fully appreciate the facts about this wonderful new instrument. We invite you to come in for a demonstration any time. There is no obligation—scores of people come to see the Vocalion who have no immediate thought of purchasing. Vocalion prices are $35 to $350. Art styles to $2000. ($35 to $75 instruments without Graduola.)

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Religion in Mexico.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Much capital is being made in some quarters out of the "do-nothing" policy of President Wilson in connection with the religious troubles of Mexico; and certain periodicals and papers have openly counseled that their readers "should remember" Mr. Wilson, the candidate, in the hour of political decision.

Now what are the facts? Mexico officially abolished religion under Commonfort and Juarez, and officially no church of any kind has the right of existence within the confines of the republic.

Since then religion has existed under cover, or by the laisses faire policy of Maximilian and Diaz.

Carranza has only revived the constitutional order of Commonfort, and the laws of 1854 promulgated by Juarez, the foundation stones upon which Mexico, as a republic, is built.

In what way could President Wilson have interfered? He could not alter Mexico's Constitution; and if he had interceded for the clergy, Carranza could and would curtly have told him to mind his own affairs. As a matter of fact, when the President did ask Carranza to grant everybody religious freedom, the latter promptly replied that he would strictly carry out the terms of the Constitution.

What more could Wilson have done? Should he have sent an army to Mexico to protect church and clergy?

A FORMER MEXICAN RESIDENT.

One Source of City Noise.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

One of the most potent causes of street noises is the paving of car tracks with granite blocks. Ride over some quiet paving and suddenly run on to granite and you are led to think the car must have left the track. This is noticeable especially on the Grand avenue line just south of Olive street. It is true the rolling stock of our street railways is none too new and the track is bad, but the noise is minimized if granite blocks are not used.

If the United Railways wish to make friends with the public they could do nothing more effective than to subdue in every way possible the noisy traffic. It is so violent on some streets that life is a dumb burden to everybody within hearing of the thundering, rattling cars.

HENRY S. GEORGE.

Wages of Railroad Men.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The railroads spent a fabulous lot of money spreading literature broadcast over the land to manufacturers and the people in general, informing them that railroad men were the highest paid workers in America, and in a measure they succeeded in pulling public opinion their way.

Engineers, with some few exceptions (a very small per cent) are paid less per hour than any other skilled labor. A man in train service who works 13 hours, which is the minimum day, will, when he is paid 10 hours' pay for eight hours' work, get considerably less per day for the eight hours' work than he gets now for the 12 hours' day. The cost falls on the railroad companies as a result of having to employ more men; but the individual man will earn less. However, they did not put it up to the public that way. The time and one-half overtime proposition was to hold the railroads to the bargain. It is not likely they would pay the time and one-half when they can put a man on to relieve us with straight time.

Now, if Mr. Hughes and the Globe-Democrat think we will not have an eight-hour day—and perhaps legally we will not—yet we will get it, for it is coming into vogue for all workers, and there is nothing to stop it.

A RAILROAD-MAN.

Fight Against High Living Cost.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A news item from Chicago says that housewives of that city are starting a campaign to combat the high cost of living. Much good would come from such campaign, especially if it becomes nation-wide, providing it is carried on along right lines. There is only one effective way to force down the cost of living, and that is for those of us who have the franchise to cast an intelligent ballot on Nov. 7 next—not by voting either the Democratic or Republican ticket, for that would be voting against ourselves, our babies and our loved ones and would still leave us living in the dark ages as at present. If the good housewives who have the franchise would vote the Socialist party ticket and if those who have not done so would study and educate their husbands (who are kept so steady at their long daily grind that they have no time to read or study for themselves) to the grand, beautiful and noble doctrine of socialism, the cost of living would be solved.

Three million votes for Benson and the Socialist party ticket at the coming election will go a long way toward reducing the present high cost of living, and will make the dawning of a new republic visible.

J. F. ARLITZ.

FACTORS IN THE ELECTION.

James Morgan in an article in the Boston Herald on third party movements figures that Wilson will need only one out of six of the Roosevelt Progressive vote to beat Hughes, but Hughes will need more than six out of seven Progressives to beat Wilson. Mr. Morgan figures only on the combined vote of Democrats, Republicans and Progressives and on the popular vote, without reference to States. He does not attempt to place 1,200,000 or so of independent or small party votes, which may control the result.

The Wilson vote of 1912 was 6,293,000; the Roosevelt vote was 4,119,000; the Taft vote was 3,484,000, and the total of all was 13,896,000. The vote necessary for a majority is 6,949,000.

One-sixth of the Roosevelt vote is 685,616. Adding this to the Wilson vote, 6,293,000, the result is 6,978,616, a little more than 28,000 above a majority.

On the other hand, six-sevenths of the Roosevelt vote are 3,313,800. Adding this to the Taft vote of 3,484,000 we get 6,797,800, which is 151,200 short of a majority. Mr. Hughes will need more than that to get a majority. In round numbers, Mr. Hughes must get 3,500,000 of the Roosevelt vote to get a safe majority and Mr. Wilson must get about 700,000 of the Progressive vote.

Of course, there are enough stray votes outside the Democratic, Republican and Progressive vote combined to upset these figures. The biggest part of this vote is radical. Mr. Hughes, with his Old Guard backing, will hardly catch radical votes.

Again, how many Roosevelt voters were native-born Democrats? Undoubtedly, quite a percentage. Mr. Wilson in 1912 did not poll the normal Democratic vote because Roosevelt drew away many Democrats who admired him personally or who looked upon the Democratic party of that day as reactionary. These Roosevelt and progressive Democrats, with Roosevelt out, will naturally go back to Democracy. They will be strongly drawn to it by the Wilson record.

In the Roosevelt following were many Republicans who irrevocably cut away from Republicanism; they were genuine progressives who could not reconcile their principles and purposes with those of the Republican organization now in control of the party and Republican purposes as expressed in the platform, the candidate and the leaders of the party.

The Democratic party's record for the past four years is decidedly progressive and Mr. Wilson is a recognized progressive leader. He represents and appeals powerfully to the progressive sentiment which backed Mr. Roosevelt four years ago.

On the other hand, there are conservative business men classed as Democratic who think Mr. Wilson too progressive and who by reason of their sympathies favor Mr. Hughes. Anti-union labor business men resent the President's action in the railroad controversy.

One factor must be considered in trying to get a clue to the political action of business men: Times are exceptionally good; business is flourishing, orders exceed supply and profits are extraordinary. Despite unusual industrial and commercial prosperity, the tendency continues upward. When prosperity is on business men are not excited about politics and are inclined to support the administration on the theory that it is bad policy to change when business is good.

The same consideration potently affects the wage-earner. With employment abundant and wages high he is not excited about politics and is not inclined to vote for a change, even if he is not drawn to Wilson by his eight-hour action and his progressive policy. These conclusions are proverbial in American politics.

The Democratic party is strengthened by peace and prosperous material conditions. How much in actual votes for the party or in stay-at-home votes cannot be accurately gauged. It is a factor that may be decisive.

We do not pretend to prophesy. We are merely calling attention to the significance of factors which operate in elections and to figures based upon the last presidential election. The situation is wholly different from that of four years ago. The war has aroused interest, passions and sympathies that were dormant four years ago. The Democrats have made an exceptionally progressive and constructive record. New issues have arisen. New voters will go to the polls.

Despite the cold discouraging figures of the 1912 vote, an analysis of conditions and factors in the present campaign shows that the Democratic situation is far from hopeless. The balance of factors outside of the 1912 figures favors Wilson.

Every Missouri lawyer should hold a brief for law reform.

LAW IS RIGHT; ALSO DAMNABLE.

It saved business men and farmers, particularly fruit-growers, from disaster. Congress did right.—Senator La Follette of Wisconsin.

It is damnable.—President F. A. Vanderlip of the City National Bank, New York.

Here are two expressions of Republican opinion on the Adamson eight-hour law. Which is likely to be the more disinterested and unaffected by the bias of big business, and hence the more reliable guide in judging the merits of this piece of legislation?

Ed Howe's "If you can't do anything well yourself, be a critic," fits remarkably well into the presidential campaign.

FILTHY FEES TO WORK.

It is getting so that there is neither pleasure nor profit for East St. Louisans in serving their country on the St. Clair County Board of Supervisors. It has been the custom for the East St. Louis members to go to Belleville once a month and answer to the roll call at the meeting of the board, stick around a while, mingle with the Belleville populace an hour or so and go home, three good dollars ahead.

Getting $3 for answering one roll call was pretty good pay and it was worth while to be a supervisor. But that is all over now. There was a meeting the other day and at the afternoon session the East St. Louis members were missing as usual and there was barely a quorum. The faithful few decided that roll calls at $3 apiece were too high and cut the price in two. A resolution was adopted that hereafter a supervisor to earn his $3 must answer one roll call at the beginning of the forenoon session and one at the end of the afternoon session.

This works a double hardship. The East St. Louis supervisors will not only have to stay around Belleville all day to get their $3, but they will spend the $3 while they are waiting for the second roll call.

A few things like this and East St. Louis patriots will rise as one man and refuse to serve their country on the St. Clair County Board of Supervisors. And what will become of the country then?

NO POLITICS IN SCHOOL BONDS.

The indorsement of the $3,000,000 school bond issue by the city central committees of both parties is gratifying. It should assure the approval of the bonds.

There is no partisanship in this issue. It concerns all the people of St. Louis, the usefulness of whose public school system is hampered by lack of school room. The proceeds of the bonds will be devoted wholly to school buildings. The current revenues of the schools will thus be relieved of a heavy draft and can be devoted to operation of the schools. If the bonds are not approved the work of the schools will be curtailed and the educational opportunities of many children cut off or reduced.

A two-thirds majority is required to authorize the bond issue. Citizens cannot afford to stay away from the polls. The vote for the bonds should be overwhelming.

ONLY "TEMPORARY."

But it happened that American production, not only in the agricultural field and in mining and in all the natural products of the earth, but also in manufacture, has increased in recent years to such volume that American business burst its jacket.—Mr. Wilson at Baltimore.

But Mr. Hughes is not concerned about the big rip. It is only a "temporary prosperity," he says. Accordingly it can be only a temporary bursting.

MEXICO'S BUSINESS REVIVAL.

Something has been happening down in Mexico. Exports to that country through Texas points have doubled since July and for August were three times their total of August last year.

They consist largely of such things as manufactured food products ready for consumption, shoes and soap. Munitions made up only a small proportion in August. A significant item is that more mining machinery was exported from this side of the line to Mexico than in any month during the past five years.

The shipments indicate not only that Mexico is on the way to pacification, but that many men who have charge of her large interests have become convinced that she is on the way. That there will not be further sporadic and localized disorder may be too much to hope, but stability, it seems, is slowly being restored.

Further evidences that the Mexican problem, which has occupied so much of the thought and effort of Americans in the past, is solved and solved wisely will be eagerly and gratefully received.

If the registration is all genuine, it is a good showing for St. Louis. There has never been a time when it was more important for every voter to think right and vote right than in this year of 1916.

JOY-RIDING CITY AUTOS.

The cost of automobile service for New York city's departments was a trifle more than $100,000 during the first six months of 1915. The cost has been reduced to $50,000 during the first six months of this year. "More rigid supervision" is the explanation of how the expenditure was cut in half.

The cities are few in which the cost for municipal motor cars is not excessive. With the introduction of the new vehicles has come prodigious joy-riding at the taxpayers' expense, reckless wear and tear on machines, consumption of high-priced gasoline for frivolous purposes. Many municipal officials must have carbureter propulsion at public cost on the simplest, most unnecessary errands.

It would pay most interior cities to ascertain the detailed methods by which New York guarded against abuses and saved the taxpayers $50,000 in six months.

It is noted that foreign-born Americans were first to salute the flag when the First Regiment marched by. There is many a foreigner who realizes what it means better than the average native American.

SOCIETY LITERATURE DECLINES.

Heigh ho! The wee hours are with us again. But what has become of the sma'? We read in the society column of a morning newspaper that "dancing was indulged in until the wee hours." It does our old hearts good to read that fine classic again, but we miss the s-m-a, with the apostrophe behind the a.

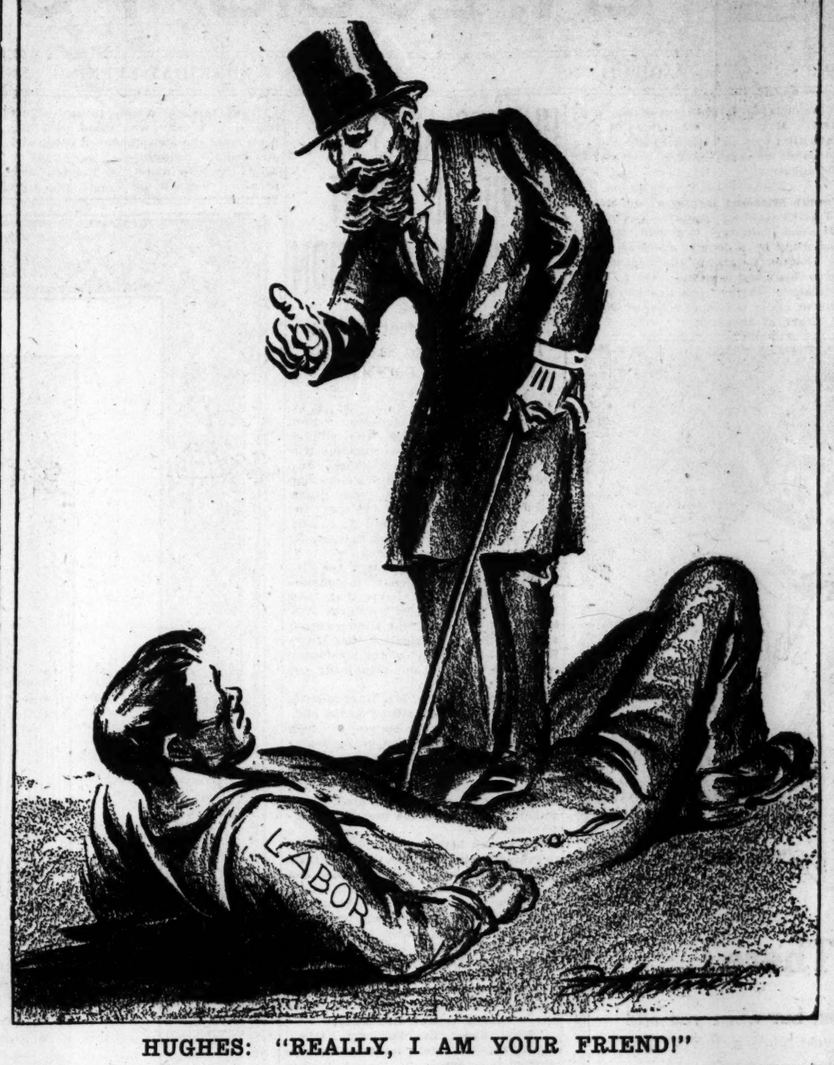

Time was when at every society affair dancing was indulged in until the wee sma' hours and the society editor who did not say so in the paper next day was recreant to her trust.

Then a period of decadence set in. The society page lost all pretensions to literary excellence. Nothing was ever said about society indulging in dancing until the wee sma' hours. There was no excuse for the omission. The wee sma' hours were still there and society still danced until them. But society might as well have gone home at midnight.

Now there is a change. The wee hours have come back, but they are no longer sma'. Or if they are, nothing is said about it. For the wee hours we are grateful, but can't we have them sma' once more?

Blackmailers have greatly helped to make the Mann act a terror to evildoers. Morality will remain lopsided, however, until the evildoers even up with the blackmailers.

Sectionalism began dying at the close of our Civil War. In the heat of a political campaign attempts may be made to revive it. They will not succeed. All sections now fight in defense of the flag.

HUGHES: "REALLY, I AM YOUR FRIEND!"

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the POST-DISPATCH by Clark McAdams

AN 8-HOUR SPEECH

FRIENDS: So much has been said by Mr. Hughes and others about the eight-hour law that I want to say something about it, too. If you will notice, the objection to it is not very vociferous among people who work more than eight hours. It is attended by much more feeling among those who work less. When a man who works 10 hours begins to work up a demonstration against an 8-hour law, he finds he can't do it; but when a man who works six hours undertakes it, he easily succeeds.

Now, friends, the whole tendency of our times is toward equality. We want all of the people to have some share of the world's wealth, some part of life's happiness, and some measure of justice. We are not asking that anyone be deprived of these things that we may give them to someone else. Mr. Wilson is a very smart man. You would just as well try to fool yourself as try to make him believe that anything is what it is not. He knows exactly what the tendency of our times is, and he therefore said at the outset of the railroad dispute that the 8-hour day would have to be conceded. There was no sense debating something the outcome of which was foreseen. Someone has said that coming events cast their shadows before them. Mr. Wilson is not a shadow-boxer.

You get that, I think. Very well. Seventy Republicans in the lower House of Congress voted for the 8-hour law. They did not know the Republican party was to be against it. They thought it a good thing, and were probably surprised to hear from Mr. Hughes that it isn't. It is not, however, true that the Republican party is against the 8-hour day. It only finds it expedient at this time to appear to be against it. A Republican can quit work as quickly as a Democrat. Nothing but a time clock keeps either of them upon the job. As soon as the election is over they will all be for eight hours. It is a human need—not a political issue. We want eight hours to sleep, and eight hours in which to eat and run around in our Fords. That leaves only eight hours for work, which is all we have left for it. You can figure it for yourself. Don't let Mr. Hughes figure it for you. He has been on the Supreme Court bench for five years, and is probably so far ahead on sleep that he isn't figuring on those eight hours at all.

There is, though, an element sincerely opposed to the 8-hour day. It has for its basis the great number of persons who do not work at all. It includes the railroad presidents, the money kings of Wall Street, and all those whose day is from 11 to 3. To those people the rest of us are so much machinery. When we stop, it is someone's duty to go out and start us. Mr. Hughes is their starter.

That is all, my friends. There is something to be said on the other side, no doubt; but this is not a debate. It is a campaign.

AUTOS IN COUNTRY TOWNS

WHEN the Lewis brothers stole an automobile they ran it off to a country town and sold it.

We have had other evidence that most stolen automobiles are sold in country towns. The process is very simple. The thief runs the car out on the public square, and exhibits a sign "For Sale." This brings everybody out. The Mayor is there. The Postmaster comes out. The Town Marshal emerges from hiding. Everybody goes over the machine. Its hood is opened, its tires punched, its lamps examined. Somebody then asks the village rich man why he doesn't buy it. This intimation that he could easily do so flatters him; so he smiles, blushes, and doesn't buy it. That is how he got to be the village rich man. Finally somebody asks the thief where he got the car. The thief says his uncle left it to him, but he found he couldn't afford to run it. Everybody feels pretty sure that the car was stolen, but that isn't going to interfere with the sale of it, as we shall see. The thief wants $200. He is offered $100. He comes down to $150. Seeing they have him going, the front men of the village, who are all old horse traders, offer him $75. He finally sells the car for $35, and gets $15 for all the extra tires and parts stolen out of other machines to make the bargain attractive. He knows his business.

So far, so good. Only that night, after the new owner has had a ride in it, the thief steals the machine again and disappears with it, whereat everybody laughs and says it served "Hank" right. So it did.

We won't ask you if you can beat it, because we know you can't.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

BEAUTY CULTURE.

B. M.—If you are inclined to experiment in bleaching your switch to a gray to match your hair, begin with a strand clipped from the switch. Subject it first to a dip in peroxide of hydrogen, dry in the sun and the next day let it soak a half hour in strong ammonia water. If the result is satisfactory you know the rest.

DISCOURAGED.—Fletcher says in The Woman Beautiful: "The best exercise I have found for expanding the chest and filling out hollows of the throat and neck is to rise upon the tips of the toes at the moment of inhalation and hold the breath, throwing it forcibly against the muscles of throat and neck while you count 15. Then inhale forcibly with open mouth and come down upon the heels. At first it may be difficult to hold the breath so long, but begin with five counts and extend it gradually. Repeat 10 times night and morning when there are no restricting bands about the body. Supplement this exercise with a daily rub of the chest with olive oil. See Answers Sep. 18.

CLEANSING.

KATE.—Dampening a cloth with peroxide and pressing it on the scorched part has removed scorch. (Writing in any open envelope requires 2 cents postage.)

ETIQUETTE.

YOUNG MAN.—"I am pleased to meet you" is time-worn; otherwise it is well enough.

P. D.—If bouillon cups have two handles, spoons are used. If served in tea-cups, may be taken either way.

HEALTH HINTS.

PERFUME.—Scientists declare that poison lurks in the aroma of the lilac, the lily and the rose. The condemnation is sweeping. Even the violet, emblem of innocence and timid and shrinking flower beloved of poets, is included in the list of flowers that should be avoided as one avoids any unmasked evil. Particularly is the warning given that flowers be kept from invalid's room. French scientists particularly warn vocalists not to inhale the odor of violets. Instances are cited of eminent songstresses being seized with a mysterious throat affection just on the eve of their appearing in the limelight. This strange seizure has actually prevented the vocalist from fulfilling an engagement.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

BEN.—Gluten bread: Two cups gluten flour, 1 teaspoon salt, a teaspoon of soda in a little hot water; sour milk to make a batter of the consistency of Johnny cake or graham gems. This makes one loaf in an 8x4 bread tin. Bake 45 minutes in moderate oven.

DOUBT.—Phone Election Commissioners, city hall phone.

VERNON.—Hunting on Sunday is forbidden by Missouri law.

FAIR DECISION.—If your statements are true, your divorced wife is hardly to be trusted.

J. I. C.—You must support your wife if she returns to you. In Illinois, desertion for two years is ground for divorce; in Missouri, absence one year.

A. B.—The law provides that Factory Inspector shall visit restaurants twice a year. Fee for each inspection of establishment, 50 cents and upward, according to the number of persons employed.

WORRIED.—You will be required to vacate at expiration of your winter's lease and if you do not, suit for possession, double rent and any damage sustained by owner may be brought at once.

MRS. L. J. E.—(Correction)—The latest published statutes of Illinois have no law exempting from taxation any property of veteran soldiers, or widows of such veterans. The error was copied from some Illinois publication, so far as we remember, and was supposed to be the law. We thank you very much for calling attention to the matter.

H. C.—It is too late to even think of having will set aside at this late day. If heirs you refer to are squandering the income, what of it? It belongs to them if they were willed a life estate, as you say. If principal is being squandered, those who are to get that can go to court at once for relief and have someone appointed to manage and hold the same.

The Lovers of Kandahar

An Afghan Romeo and Juliet Story.

(In his "Asiatic Novels" Count Joseph Arthur de Gobineau has retold for the Western world an old Persian and Afghan story which is strikingly like Shakspeare's "Romeo and Juliet" both in theme and woeful ending.)

HIS mother had named him Mohsen, meaning "The Beautiful," and he did justice to his name. There was no Afghan in all Kandahar who could match him when he rode through the narrow streets with his black hair curling under a blue and red striped turban. With deep, soft eyes that were quick to flame, he looked scornfully down on the low-born who had neither dignity nor self respect. He knew proudly that his own honor was so dear to him that his days would not be long.

He carried death, and watched for death. Between his family of the Ahmedzyys and the equally powerful Muradzyys there was an age-long feud. There was another younger feud between his father Mohammed-Beg and his uncle Osman-Beg.

Therefore Mohsen never went unarmed. Always he bore his shield, over his back hung the long Afghan rifle and in his gay sash was a knife three feet long, four inches broad, sharp as acid and of such weight that a single blow would amputate a limb.

One evening he stole into Osman-Beg's house, meaning to kill the youngest son Elem. He grieved to do it, for Elem and he had been boyhood companions; but honor is dearer to the Afghan than aught else. He put memories behind him and went in.

"Hail to thee, son of my uncle!" said a soft voice. It was his cousin Dschemyleh, who had watched him enter. She advanced and stood before him lovely as the dusk, in a red, gold-embroidered robe of gauze, her shining eyes and hair splendid behind a transparent veil of silver and blue. "Thou hast come to kill Elem!" she said. "He is best beloved! I love him. I love thee, too. Oh, Mohsen, take me as ransom. Take me, son of my uncle. I will be thy wife. I will follow thee."

He kneeled and kissed the hem of her robe. Dschemyleh lifted her little naked foot and set it on his neck. Under that touch his pride broke like glass.

The Woman of the Harem Gives Mohsen Protection.

THREE days later Osman-Beg and his sons tore beards and hair, and wailed in their house for shame. Their beloved, their star, their Dschemyleh had fled with the son of their hated kinsman, their enemy.

Kandahar was no place where the two could hide. Before another sun had passed the avengers of blood had driven them from house to house and surrounded them in their last retreat—a ruined part of the city.

Mohsen lay behind a wall and let them approach. Dschemyleh sat by his side with his rifle. Poising the great knife, Mohsen leaped out suddenly and struck down the leader of his pursuers. The red knife swung again and hacked through turban and skull of a cousin.

Then he prepared to die, for they were all at him. Dschemyleh lifted the gun. At that moment a band of riders charged into the fight. They drove between him and his foes. "Osman-Beg," roared the leader, "give way. Run! Let loose thy prey, or I swear by the graves of all the holy ones that thou shalt not live!"

Sullenly Osman-Beg's band retired. The newcomer was Akbar-Khan, son of Abdullah-khan, who governed the city for the Sultan. His horsemen took the two between them and hurried them to the citadel. But Mohsen was little pleased. Abdullah and Akbar were of the stock of the Muradzyys. Mohsen's life had been saved from one foe only to fall into that of another, still more bitter.

But he was an Afghan, and his mind was crafty. Scarcely had they entered the citadel before he tore himself loose and ran like a deer into the harem, where he threw himself down before the wife of Abdullah. Snatching the hem of her robe, he demanded protection.

Abdullah-khan and his son were close on his heels, with daggers drawn. "I am an Ahmedzyy!" said Mohsen. "Kill me if you will!"

Abdullah-khan lifted his dagger. "Hold!" said his wife. "These children have gained my protection. If thou touchest them thou losest thine honor and thy fame that is shining as silver will be blackened in the sight of men."

Abdullah-khan's eyes gleamed like those of a tiger. He stood still, trembling with rage. Then he stooped and said: Rise! Ye are my children!"

The Fair Couple Meets Death in the Shower of Bullets.

HALF an hour later the Sultan, stormed at by the wailing family of Osman-Beg, who was his henchman, sent word to Abdullah-khan that Mohsen must be delivered to the avengers. In flowery language full of love, the royal emissaries assured Abdullah-khan that disobedience meant that his life and property would be forfeit.

"I will go with ye to the Sultan!" replied Abdullah. He sent for his son and in the presence of the royal messengers told him the Sultan's order. "Guard the two till I return!" said Abdullah. "Thou knowest, my son, what misfortunes await us if they escape. Should they win to horse and gain the open country while I am gone, they might make good their flight! Dost thou understand me well, oh, my son?"

Akbar crossed both arms over his breast and bowed low.

Less than five minutes after his father had ridden away with the Sultan's people, Akbar-khan, Mohsen and Dschemyleh galloped out of Kandahar's gates and disappeared in the desert.

It had been done so openly that all Kandahar knew of it almost at once. Before night a great band was on their track. Pressed hard, the fugitives turned to a watch tower in a ravine, but the pursuers picked up their trail and attacked before dawn.

Akbar and Mohsen lay behind the wooden door and fired through loopholes, while Dschemyleh loaded their guns and pistols. The assailants, however, had a plentiful supply of firearms and ammunition. Bit by bit the door was riddled. Bullets began to rain into the tower.

Suddenly Dschemyleh clutched at her breast and fell. Before Mohsen could lift her, Akbar dropped, shot through the temples. Mohsen threw himself down beside Dschemyleh. The two embraced. Their lips met in a kiss. Another salvo drove through the riddled door and killed them both, even as they smiled at each other.

Count Joseph Arthur de Gobineau (1816-1882) was a French writer, diplomat and ethnologist of unusual attainments. He represented France at Athens, Copenhagen, Rio de Janeiro and in Persia. It was during his years of residence in Persia that he gathered the material for his "Asiatic Novels," which are known in English under the title "Romances of the East."

LORD, GOLF TRUST BUSTER, LOOMS UP AS TITLE FACTOR

Algonquin Player's Overwhelming Defeat of Stickney Surprise of City Tourney.

MEETS EDMUNDS TODAY

Match Between Kenney and Limberg, However, Is Expected to Draw the "Gallery."

By W. J. O'Connor.

Roger Endicott Lord, playing over his home links, yesterday furnished the big thrill in the second round of the City Golf Championships at Algonquin, by leading Stuart Stickney of Country Club to defeat, 8 up and 7, which is the severest drubbing any member of the so-called Country Club "golf trust" ever suffered.

Only one Country Club player now survives. Sterling Edmunds, always a potent but seldom a real championship factor, remains today in the third round and is paired against this same Mr Lord, who is playing his second season in the local classic.

Lord came to St. Louis three years ago from Endicott, N. Y., and since his arrival has made history in local golfing circles, at his own club at least. He holds the amateur course record at Algonquin, a 73. He all but equaled that record yesterday, explaining in a way why Stickney was submarined.

Lord turned a 74 against Stickney, one above the course record. He went out in 35, equaling the amateur and professional record for the first half of the course. He was 4 up on Stickney at the turn, 5 up on old Col. Bogey, and 1 up on par.

Stickney Had No Excuses.

Stickney's game wasn't entirely wrong. He played as well yesterday as he did the previous day, but competition was just a little keener. Last year Stickney met Lord in the third round of the city championships and beat him, although Lord won the low qualifying score in the tournament at Normandie.

Lord now holds the Algonquin Club title and promises to be a dominant factor in this year's city tournament. In fact, he already has proved that, for the task of beating Lord by any score is not one to regard lightly.

Lord learned the rudiments of golf in the East, but has been a pupil of Willie Kidd, since joining the Algonquin Club three years ago. He's a man in the early thirties, six feet tall and slender. He can hit a long ball and putts with deadly accuracy. He had to, to return this score yesterday:

Out .....4 4 3 4 4 5 4 3 4—35
In .....4 4 4 4 5 5 5 3 6—39—74

Professional Record Is 70.

He over-approached on No. 18, forfeiting a chance for a possible 73, the amateur course record. He was in trouble going to 18, or he might have bettered the course record. Willie Kidd's professional record of 70 for this course was compounded as follows:

Out .....4 4 3 4 4 5 4 3 4—35
In .....5 3 4 3 4 4 5 3 5—36—70

Friends of the Algonquin champion say Lord would be even better had he not recently recovered from sickness. Contenders for this year city title are beginning to congratulate themselves on catching Mr. Lord off his game. Yea, bo, he's playing erratic just now, like Chick Evans.

Gallery Will Follow Champion.

Lord's game against Edmunds today will be watched with interest, but the gallery undoubtedly will attach itself to the Limberg-Kenney match, now in its third renewal, and decisive, the sharps believe, of what the tournament eventualities will be.

Two years ago Chris Kenney played this same Eddie Limberg in the city finals and was torpedoed in the thirty-seventh green, 1 down. A year ago, at Normandie, Kenney wreaked vengeance, towing Limberg into port with a pronounced list to leeward, 4 down and 3. This year Limberg is playing a faster speed, while Kenney is rumbling along as well as he ever did. Kenney survived the acid test, yesterday. He brought Harry Potter in, 1 down, and when you beat Potter you've got a man with as much stick-to-itiveness as any player in St. Louis.

But Kenney had a little of that stuff they make fiddle strings out of, himself. He rubbed Potter out on the eighteenth green by playing a perfect iron out of the tall grass and laying it up for a 4. Potter tried to run down a six-foot putt, in a desperate effort to halve the hole, and overran the cup.

But in the last half of this match Potter repeatedly recovered in the pinch and defeated Kenney's attempt to win by a decisive score. Potter's tee shots were bad, getting him into continual trouble, but he played his irons like a master and kept Kenney stepping all the time.

The Kenney-Limberg match should be as good as any in the tournament. They are both at the top of their form.

Cy Moore is quietly but decisively hewing his way into the semi-finals. Yesterday Cyrus Burnham settled his differences with R. S. Rhoades of Normandie, former champion of Ohio, on a friendly but firm basis, 7 up and 6.

Cy is never offensive, but always effective in these early rounds. Some folks thought that Rhoades would give him an interesting scrap, but Moore ripped all the interest out of the struggle on the journey outward. He had his opponent four down at the turn and was galloping along under wraps.

Last Call for Country Club.

If Lord can submarine Edmunds, the last Country Club survivor, today, he will then probably have to make terms with Moore, whose foe today is Cooney G. Besch. The self-styled experts think that More will beat Besch, although these same folks had opinions not entirely different about John Bowman yesterday. But Cooney took the dope sheet and turned it upside down, so Rick thinks he has been known to do in other tournaments. More cannot consider his task today lightly, but the fact is unthinkable that More, the favorite at most time. Today's pairings:

A. A. Limberg, Triple A, vs. Chris Kenney, Triple A.
C. C. Pangman, Algonquin, vs. C. L. Wolf, Kirkwood C. C.
Roger B. Lord, Algonquin, vs. Sterling Edmunds, Country Club.
C. G. Besch, Ridgedale, vs. C. B. More, Normandie.

Miss Semple Enters U. S. Golf Event From St. Louis, Miss Kaiser From Chicago.

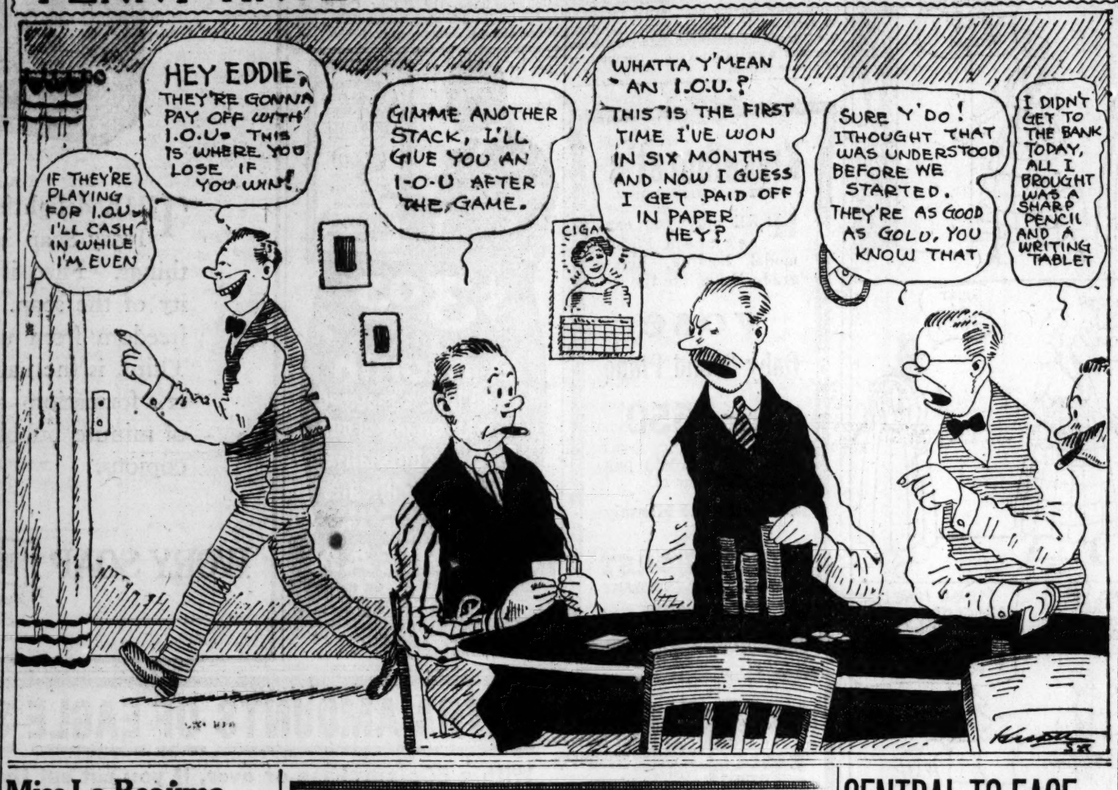

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Secretary Howard F. Whitney of the United States Golf Association announced yesterday that 60 players would compete in the women's national amateur tournament, scheduled to start Oct. 2 at the Belmont Springs Country Club, Waverly, Mass. This number of entries is far short of last year, when 110 competed.

Among the entrants are Miss Grace Semple of the St. Louis Country Club and Miss Laura Kaiser, another St. Louisan, but who has entered from the Flossmoor Club of Chicago.

Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck, who won the title last year, will not defend her honors this year. English players, Mrs. O. M. Hezlet, who was runner-up in 1910, and Miss W. Gavin, the runner-up last year, will try for the championship.

World's Series to Open Oct. 7, B. Johnson Says

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—The world's series will open Saturday, Oct. 7, according to President B. B. Johnson of the American League, who as a member of the National Commission is today ready to begin preparations for the series. While the race is not certain, as it is, no final action has been taken yet by the National Commission, Mr. Johnson said.

"I am certain that the world's series will start on Oct. 7," said Johnson.

"Owing to the uncertainty of the race we have been unable to make any final arrangements for the series and I don't know whether to start east or remain in the West. The White Sox still have a chance, but of course in the National League the winner will be an Eastern team."

RUMANIAN SOLDIERS SAID TO HAVE DYNAMITED OFFICERS

Berlin Hears Bombs Was Placed Under Train, Killing or Injuring Nearly 400 Officers.

BERLIN, Monday, Sept. 25, by wireless to the Associated Press via Sayville, Sept. 27.—Indirect reports from Kronstadt, Transylvania, declare that disgruntled Rumanian soldiers set off a dynamite bomb under a train loaded with 400 Rumanian officers, only seven of whom escaped unhurt.

Following serious instances of disobedience, the advices add, the Rumanian military authorities instituted an investigating commission and ordered two noncommissioned officers and four soldiers shot, the only result, however, being the refusal of an entire regiment to obey orders.

WRAY'S COLUMN

McGraw Vindicates Himself.

WHEN Matty slumped and the Giants bumped the bottom it began to appear as though John McGraw's fame, as a manager at least, depended on the Big Six's success as a hurler.

McGraw is vindicating himself of this charge. It took courage to wreck a team in mid-season, to fire tried men of known ability, like Doyle and Merkle, and to buy back a player whom he had twice let go, Herzog.

It also required some confidence in his own judgment to buy a malcontent like Zimmerman, with a real or fancied reputation as a maligner and trouble-maker.

It is the judgment of a genius to cling to a pitcher for three years, hoping against hope that he would make good.

McGraw, in acquiring the club that has now won 22 successive victories, for the greatest major league sequence in history, did all these things.

He broke up a club that had won 17 straight games, a few weeks before, and rebuilt it into a team that set a still higher standard. That ought to speak for itself as a test of ability and generalship.

McGraw and His Pitchers.

IT seems well established that McGraw knows a pitcher when he sees one. And he never lets one go until he has satisfied himself of the hurler's inferiority.

Schupp, who has pitched five victories, during the September rise of the Giants, and who has allowed a total of three runs for the quintet of contests, is a sample of McGraw's faith. This is Schupp's third season—he came through eventually. Schupp's case is almost a duplicate of Marquard's. Schupp cost $10,000, Marquard $11,000. McGraw saw the latent ability in both. In both instances he waited three seasons for the hurler to come through.

On the other hand, McGraw lets them go quickly, when they don't show pay dirt. He gave up $4500 for Pitcher Durham, of the same club as Marquard, whom he bought at the same time. He took one look at Durham, sacrificed the $4500 and released him to Toronto.

Golf Champion Aggrieved.

"UNEASY lies the head," etc., goes for the golf crown, too, as we get it from "Chick" Evans' recent ebullition. Chick, wearing two crowns, is getting a double dose of insomnia.

Following the national amateur tournament, Evans played in a foursome against Jerry Travers and two other notables, and was slightly outplayed by Travers.

Whereupon New York critics front-paged the opinion that the Chicagoan would not have won the title had Travers and Francis Ouimet been in the struggle.

Immediately "Chick" developed many calories under his neck linen and trundled out into the spotlight a load of alibis, chief among which was the fact that he had not only just finished a long, hard grind in the national tourney, but had followed it up by exhibitions right and left until he was worn out.

He added that he would show either Travers or Ouimet where they get off in a "home-and-home" series of matches.

But a new battery thereupon rushed into action in the person of Francis Ouimet, who blew up the alibis with the following opinion:

I am ready at his (Evans') challenge to Travers and myself, which I think a little out of place. In many ways Evans is the stylist of all amateurs, but I am willing to go on record now that should I be called upon to play a decisive match with either Evans or Travers, I should by all means select Evans. I think that Evans is more temperamental and lacks the splendid competitive steel that is Travers. As Travers played recently at Wykagyle, and using wood off the tees, too, I don't believe there is a golfer in the country who could beat Jerry. This is purely a personal view, and I have the highest respect for Evans' golf.

Evans should worry. He WON his titles by playing, not by conversation. Travers was privileged to enter the national tourney if he wanted the glory.

Besides, "Chick" has some balm that ought to sweeten his disposition. He is said to have admitted to $30,000 expected benefits arising from his victories, not to mention his liberal expense accounts for exhibitions.

Greatest American Track Team.

FOR its size, the greatest American athletic team that ever passed the three-mile limit will sail from New York tomorrow for Sweden, where the members will compete in the Swedish national championships, by invitation.

It is unfortunate for the expectations of success, entertained for this quintette of performers, that Ted Meredith, the world's champion middle distance runner, will depart sorely afflicted with Job's trouble, boils.

He thinks he will be able to run, but almost any of us would be optimistic if it meant a trip to Stockholm.

The fact is Meredith did not do himself justice in the national championships, and was beaten. He had been training hard since and the boils may merely be an evidence of improvement instead of retrogression. We hope so.

Eight Firsts Expected.

In that case, aided by Bob Simpson, Fred Murray, Jo Loomis and Andy Ward, all champions several times over, he will be able to make Sweden open its eyes. It is expected that this quintet will win firsts in the Running high jump.

Running broad jump.
120 yards high hurdles.
220 yards low hurdles.
100 yards dash.
220 yards dash.
440 yards run.
880 yards run.

In addition there is a chance of landing firsts or seconds in the javelin throw, discus and weight events. It is almost a certainty that these men will score firsts in the events above named, as they are specialists in these particular features.

CENTRAL TO FACE STRONG EAST SIDE ELEVEN, SATURDAY

Game Is Expected to Be Feature of Local High School Contests.

Central will play East St. Louis at High School Field Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The Central boys played good football in their game last Saturday, winning by a score of 39—0. However, they will have a stronger opponent than before and the outcome of the game will be awaited with interest. Saturday the East Side boys defeated Cleveland 27—6 and in doing so they played an excellent game.

Cleveland Plays Ranken.

Cleveland plays Ranken in the morning game. Both teams were beaten in their initial games, Saturday. Coach Midkiff is working to strengthen the right side of his line which was very weak in the game against East St. Louis. Florida, a husky youth, is holding down a guard, Richter, a tackle, while Kirkoff will probably be sent to right end, as he played a very good game against East St. Louis.

Soldan Gets a Workout.

Soldan and the St. Charles A. C. teams will face each other at the kickoff at 3:30. Soldan expects a hard battle and is speeding their machine for the game. This will be Soldan's second game. A week ago they defeated the Alumni 7—0.

Goeppel Is Injured.

Al Goeppel, star end of Soldan, suffered a sprained ankle in practice and may not return to the game again for three weeks. Johnny Sparks, halfback, sustained a wrenched shoulder in a scrimmage and he will also be out for an indefinite period.

All Saturday's games will be played at High School Field.

The full schedule of the Central team has been announced. The games that will put the mid-city boys to the test follow:
Sept. 30—East St. Louis vs. Central; 1.
Oct. 7—Kirkwood vs. Central; 11.
Oct. 12—Loyola vs. Central; 3:30.
Oct. 14—Webster vs. Central; 3:30.
Oct. 19—Undergrads vs. Central; 3:30.
Oct. 21—Cleveland vs. Central; 10.
Oct. 28—Principia vs. Central; 1.
Nov. 11—Yeatman vs. Central; 3.
Nov. 18—Soldan vs. Central; 3.
Nov. 25—McKinley vs. Central; 10.

Krause Not "Paid" Coach.

Walter Krause, one of Washington University's best alumni hustlers, has been retained for several refereeing and umpiring jobs during the local football season. It was erroneously stated that he was one of the seven "paid" coaches at Washington this year. Krause's interest in the eleven is purely voluntary, and is confined to occasional visits to Francis Field.

Joern Reports to Coach Painter; Corcoran Hurt

The first football injury of the season in local college circles was suffered by Joe Corcoran, the halfback of the St. Louis U. team. Corcoran, who put in his first appearance on Monday, injured his shoulder in the workout at the Columbian A. C. field yesterday. Just how badly Corcoran is injured will not be determined until some time today, when an X-ray is taken of the wounded member.

Corcoran was a regular halfback with the Billiken eleven last year and was counted upon for a place again this season by Coach Painter and his assistants.

Bill Joern was one of those present during the practice session yesterday. Joern did a lot of kicking under the eagle eye of Coach Painter; Gorman also put in about an hour booting the pigskin.

When Cahill, Gallagher, Cuthbertson, McCormick and O'Donnell report to Painter and his assistants the latter part of this week, the squad will be complete.

MUNICIPAL TITLE AT STAKE TODAY AT BROWNS' PARK

Wagners and Kinseys Battle in Final of Three-Game Series for Championship.

WINNERS GO TO MEMPHIS

Each Team Has Won One Contest—Joquel, a Catcher, May Pitch for Wagners.

Two amateur teams that have played through the season with a great record in the Municipal Baseball Association will fight it out this afternoon at Sportsman's Park for the St. Louis championship and the honor of going to Memphis to meet the title-holders of that city. The two clubs are the Wagner Electrics and Kinsey club.

The Wagner Electrics represent the Mercantile League, which organization has won every municipal baseball championship staged in this city. In 1914 the Grimm & Gorleys went over and last season it was the Wolffs who went through the campaign without suffering a defeat. The Kinseys played in the Commercial League.

With two star pitchers, a strong fielding aggregation, but one that has proven weak at the bat, the Wagners completed the Mercantile season losing only one game, that to the Ben Millers, who finished second. Teddy Novak, a southpaw, and Hays, a right-hander, were the regular flingers for the Wagners.

Wagners Lose Two Stars.

In their elimination game they defeated the St. Leos by a top-heavy score and then beat the St. Louis Suburbans for the right to get into the final. This game caused a row and resulted in barring Novak and La Barge, two of the team's stars, from the final. At first the Suburbans were awarded the victory, but when the Wagners gathered evidence showing that Pitcher Lilpop of the Suburbans had played professional ball after June 1, they were allowed to compete in the finals.

The Kinsey club made a great record in the Commercial League and then eliminated the Hy Tex of the City League and the Friscos of the Manufacturers' and Bankers' circuit for the right to play the Wagners. Ellerman and Lewis are the pitchers for the team.

Joquel May Pitch Again.

In the first game of the finals last Saturday the Kinseys were easy winners, 9—1, Ellerman holding his rivals to three hits. He tried to repeat Sunday, but was clouted all over the lot with the Wagners gaining the verdict, 8—3. In this conquest Joquel, a catcher, pitched for the victors. He will go back against his rivals in the final battle today, opposed by Hayes.

The Kinseys will have a changed lineup today, Burkes, the second-sacker, who weakened badly last Sunday, going to the bench. He will be replaced by Milford, a regular third-sacker, with Hurtig, a youngster, handling the look-in corner.

The contest is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock, with the Arcade Red Sox playing an all-star team picked by Phil Kavanaugh in the curtain-raiser at 1:15.

Mayor to Open Contest.

Mayor Kiel has promised to pitch the first ball, with Director of Public Welfare Tolkacz batting. Other city officials also will be on hand. The Wagner Co. has declared a half-holiday and has purchased large blocks of tickets. The admission fee will be 25 cents.

"Shorty" Smith, at Quarter, Is Newest Eli Star

Runs 60 Yards for a Touchdown on Kick-Off, and Handles Team Expertly.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 27.—Four touchdowns were rolled up by the varsity against the Yale scrubs this afternoon, two of them after sensational runs by Waite and Shorty Smith, who is rapidly winning for himself a place on the first eleven.

During the scrimmage, Carter, who has been showing up well at guard, was injured and taken to the New Haven Hospital. Harry Legore was out of the scrimmage because of an infected foot, and the varsity backfield did well to score so often without him.

Smith's touchdown followed a 60-yard run after the kick-off, while Waite made his long run around his own right end with perfect interference. Later Waite made another touchdown in a plunge through center, which Jacques duplicated.

"Chub" Sheldon Returns.

"Chub" Sheldon was in the scrimmage for a few minutes at tackle, fresh from his army work at Tobyhanna. Joe Neville, who has hitherto been on the second team, was at halfback and kicked the goals after the four touchdowns.

Bomeister and Hobbs assisted the regular staff of coaches. "Pa" Corbins son was center on the scrub team. The varsity lineup was: Summerford and Moseley, ends; Sheldon and Baldridge, tackles; Carter and Black, guards; Vorys, center; Smith, quarterback; Neville and Waite, halfbacks; Hutchinson and Jacques, fullbacks.

Cards Crumble.

THE Giants made it twenty-two,
Their winning streak is growing;
They walloped Miller Huggins' crew
Without a sign of blowing.
The "Sheriff" went against the Cards
And started in to show them;
The way he trimmed his former pards,
You'd think he didn't know them.

Giants Going Great Guns.

THOSE Giants are a gallant crew
Of nervy pennant chasers;
At first we thought they'd only do
For sixth or seventh placers.
Those players now the fans applaud,
Where once they used to hoot 'em;
They even hinted that a squad
Should take 'em out and shoot 'em.

Braves Bravely Battling.

WE note that quite a torrid place
The Boston Braves are hitting;
They still continue in the race
And scorn the thought of quitting.
For putting up a gallant fight
Those boys should be commended;
They'll give some other guys a fright
Before the season's ended.

Stickney Couldn't Stick.

R. E. Lord is the guy who took the "Stick," out of Stickney.

See where the Giants hopped on Mule Watson and rode him to the bench, in the sixth inning.

A little whitewash, now and then, Might make the Cards come clean again.

With the Giants wiping up the park with the Cards, every day, the groundkeeper's job at the Polo Grounds is our idea of a sinecure.

Render Unto Caesar.

THE Giants should send the Cards a card of thanks for the noble assistance Huggin's boys rendered them in establishing their wonderful record for consecutive winning.

SHOULD the Dodgers win the pennant, it is thought that many New Yorkers who have never crossed the boundary lines of their respective wards will start on an exploring expedition and find out if there really is such a place as Brooklyn, about which they have been reading in the joke columns for so many years.

The Giants still have a chance to win the pennant. It is not a chance, though, that is overburdened with adipose tissue.

BRAVES BEAT PIRATES; SIXTH STRAIGHT VICTORY

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Boston won its sixth straight game, 1 to 0, from Pittsburg, this morning, in the last home game of the season. Tyler kept four hits well scattered and was never in danger. The locals got their lone run in the eighth inning on a base on balls, a sacrifice hit and a single by Magee.

LEO KELLY KNOCKS DOWN JOE CASSIDY BUT LOSES BATTLE

Newark Fighter's Shifty Footwork and Cleverness Enable Him to Outbox Foe.

Harry Sharpe's Decisions

JOE CASSIDY of Newark, N. J., vs. Leo Kelly of St. Louis, 12 rounds at 140 pounds at 3 p. m.—Cassidy the winner on points.

JACK RAINEY vs. Patsy Flanigan, 6 rounds at 118 pounds—Rainey the winner on points.

LEO WILLIAMS vs. Tommy Kinney, 6 rounds at catch weights—Draw.

"YOUNG" DUNDEE vs. "Kid" Alberts, 6 rounds at 110 pounds—Dundee the winner; bout stopped in third round to prevent further punishment of Alberts.

By Harry S. Sharpe,
Referee for the Future City Athletic Club.

Better boxing won for Joe Cassidy of Newark, N. J., over Leo Kelly of St. Louis, last night, at the Future City Athletic Club. It was a 12-round bout, marked in places by some very rough work. At slamming and slugging neither had much of an advantage; but between times Cassidy's shifty footwork, left lead and right cross ran up a margin of points in his favor.

Kelly is nothing if not willing, but he had trouble in locating Cassidy most of the time because the Newark boxer flitted and floated about the ring at considerable speed and was hard to catch. Now and then he backed into a corner or against the ropes, and at such times Kelly made the most of his opportunity. However, when hard pressed at close quarters, Cassidy often managed to fight his way clear, with Kelly getting the worst of it.

Butting Damages Both Boxers.

Much clinching brought the heads of the boxers together quite frequently, with the result that before two rounds had been finished each of the boxers was carrying a cut in the left eyelid. Cassidy received another in the seventh round, and this one bothered him considerably for a couple of rounds until his seconds succeeded in stopping the flow of blood.

Beginning with the tenth round, Cassidy got going again at full speed and ran up a lot of points in his favor. In the eleventh round Cassidy went down as the result of a punch and a slip, while mixing it with Kelly, but bounced to his feet at once.

The bout was a hard-fought one, but it would have been more interesting had there been less clinching and holding and laying on by both boxers. Cassidy is a fairly clever welterweight, and probably can do better than he showed against Kelly. Last night, boxing here for the first time, he was a bit too careful in his anxiety not to violate the rules and did some unnecessary holding.

If he can overcome this fault he should become quite popular, as he registered quite a hit with the neutral fans.

Coliseum Date Shifted.

It was announced from the ring that the bout scheduled for Oct. 5 at the Coliseum between Johnn Dundee and Jimmy Hanlon had been postponed for two weeks, owing to a request from Dundee for more time to prepare.

Instead of the foregoing bout, "Battling" Reddy will be matched for 12 rounds with some good boxer for next Monday night at the Future City A. C. Tommy Sullivan hopes to secure either Benny McNeill or "Chick" Hayes.

Last Night's Fights

Boston—Johnny O'Leary of Seattle won decision over Vic Moran of New Orleans in 12-round bout. It was a queer battle. Moran knocked O'Leary down in first round and had him almost out at the finish, but he loafed so much during the middle of so bout the referee decided against him.

New York—Gunboat Smith and Tow Cowler an English heavyweight boxed 10 rounds to a draw at the Broadway Club in Brooklyn. Cowler boxed cleverly and the Gunner slammed hard in the last few rounds.

BEARS HAVE THE EDGE IN THE CHICAGO WHEAT PIT

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Wheat prices today appeared to be still weighed down by the bearish influence of the big world supply, the largest known at this season. Free selling took place, with support poor until the market had undergone a decided setback.

Balkan developments were being watched closely, but a majority of traders seemed to accept the view that chances of an early opening of the Dardanelles were not good.

Initial quotations, which ranged from ⅜c off to ⅝c up, with December at $1.54 to $1.54½ and May at $1.54 to $1.54⅝, were followed by a material general decline and then something of a rally.

Unwelcome rains made corn relatively firm. The moisture was regarded as harmful to the corn crop at this stage, although helpful to pastures. After opening at ¼c decline to a like advance, the market fluctuated within narrow limits. Oats tended to sag in the absence of any aggressive demand from the seaboard. Wheat weakness was also a bearish factor.

Lower prices on hogs carried down provisions. There were numerous liquidating sales by holders.

U. S. Steel Issues Active on London Market.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The stock market was quite cheerful today on the Somme victories, but little increase in business resulted. Consols and the war loan were maintained, rubber stocks were active and shipping and oil shares steady. American securities were firm with United States Steel the most active issue.

Although such a large amount of treasury bills is outstanding the fact that French exchequer bonds are being issued led to the belief.

Trade in wheat was limited to pit professionals on the local market in the late speculation today, with the price range about 2c lower, owing to easy Liverpool cables and less pessimistic crop reports from the Argentine. On all the setbacks, however, supporting orders were encountered and minor rallies took place. War and statistical news were without effect on prices.

Liverpool wheat was steady, with few shippers offers, and strength in Argentine offset American easiness. Spot market was steady, unchanged to 1d higher, with a better demand as a result of better condition of the strike. Cargo market was quiet, unchanged to 3d lower. Shippers' offers are few. Corn was firm, with dearer Argentine freights and smaller arrivals. Spot 1d higher; parcel market easier; Plates unchanged; Americans 3d lower.

A Buenos Ayres cable stated that the Argentine steamer Pampa sailed for New York today, with a cargo of 4000 tons of wheat and linseed. Two other steamers loaded with wheat will follow.

Corn futures were quiet and barely steady, despite a rise of 1d in prices at Liverpool, and light primary receipts. The trade ignored drouth reports from Argentina.

Local wheat receipts were 109,000 bu, against 132,000 bu last year. Shipments, 183,000 bu, against 148,000 bu. Corn receipts, 6000 bu, against 37,000 bu. Shipments, 16,000 bu, against 34,000 bu. Oats receipts, 51,000 bu, against 41,000 bu. Shipments, 59,000 bu, against 19,000 bu.

Total primary wheat receipts were 1,710,000 bu, against 3,095,000 bu last year. Shipments, 1,182,000 bu, against 1,776,000 bu. Corn receipts, 769,000 bu, against 1,341,000 bu; shipments, 373,000 bu, against 445,000 bu. Oats receipts, 1,485,000 bu, against 1,173,000 bu. Shipments, 1,028,000 bu, against 947,000 bu.

Broomhall says the prospects for the reopening of the Dardanelles at an early date are unchanged, but that the Australian wheat surplus is large with difficulty attending tonnage still in evidence. American wheat will continue to be in good demand, he declares.

Minneapolis stocks of wheat increased 300,000 bu for 4 days.

The Price Current Grain Reporter says that the frost damage to corn was slight; that the plant has ended its growth and that there may be some reduction from the September estimate in the final statement of the crop.

Minneapolis wired that there is a big demand for low grade wheat, but so far they have not come after the elevator wheat. Country receipts Northwest are light.

Broomhall cables:

"United Kingdom—Weather favors the completion of harvest and also plowing. Native offers increasing.

"France—Weather unfavorable and threshing is progressing slowly owing to scarcity of labor.

"Germany—Neutral reports say that weather attending harvest is unfavorable.

"Russia—Official reports still contend that crops over the average with the exception of barley. Private reports are distinctly unfavorable.

"Argentine—Wheat prospects unchanged, and with the exception of the North where dryness has affected, the outlook is favorable. Wheat offers very light; corn more firmly held.

"Australia—Beneficial rains have fallen over an important area. Season is considered assured and outlook for wheat bright.

"India—Seeding outlook good; wheat freely offered at firm prices, but there are no new allotments for export."

New York reported flour prices advanced at numerous centers yesterday. Average gains were 15c to 20c a barrel and these latest advances are expected to lead to general increases in the cost of a bread loaf. Much was heard at the close of yesterday's market that interests in touch with leading Western elevator houses were pounding the wheat list. This group has been credited with working on the bear side whenever outside speculative interest showed signs of diminishing and when the short interest has been reduced.

Russell's News said that the early advices regarding demand for wheat were quiet and that overnight acceptances were light.

Buenos Ayres wheat opened unchanged; corn, ¼c lower; flax seed, 6c higher.

Clearances of wheat today were 621,000 bu; flour, 60,000 bbls; wheat and flour, 895,000 bu; corn none; oats, 6000 bu.

Kansas City, cash wheat was 1c to 3c lower today; corn steady; oats, ½c lower.

HOGS—Besides the fresh receipts of today, fully 5000 hogs were also available for sale that had been carried over from yesterday's market. HORSES AND MULES.

Reported for the Post-Dispatch by Campbell & Reid and Western Sale Stables Co., National Stockyards.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., Sept. 27.—Receipts of horses were not heavy today, but we have received all together this week the heaviest run ever known here. The receipts last week were the largest in years, but there are more horses on the market this week than last.

Inspections are all working and are taking over 300 head. The Southern trade is good on good, blocky Southern mares and there is quite a good deal of Eastern trade.

Receipts of mules are not so heavy, but there are too many mules coming that are not the right kind. Mules with quality can be sold. The thin, half-fat and plug mules are slow sale.

THE POST-DISPATCH'S DAILY RECORD OF MARKETS AND FINANCE

RAILWAY SHARES FEATURE TRADE IN WALL STREET

Union Pacific and Other Issues Score Gains; Over 1,000,000 Shares Sold.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Railway shares again today, occupied the prominent places in the Stock Exchange trading, overshadowing such favorites as United States Steel and the copper company issues. During the forenoon, for instance, the volume of business in Union Pacific stock was considerably in excess of that in the Steel shares.

"Tendency in the railway group was unmistakably upward, gains of more than a point being common, while advances of 2 or 3 per cent occurred in several cases.

"In other parts of the market, the trend was not so distinct and consistent. On the whole, prices bettered yesterday's final level, with some exceptionally large gains, but alternating rallies and declines kept the market generally unsettled. Trading again exceeded 1,000,000 shares.

"Today's activity in the railway stocks could be accounted for on several grounds. When the industrial shares showed signs of wavering, demand was naturally diverted toward stocks that had participated, like the railway issues, to a smaller extent in the recent upward movement of prices.

"Moreover, there may have been some belated capitalizing of the Loree figures of last Monday, showing that there remained actually in the hands of foreigners some $1,415,000,000 of American railway securities last July, against $2,700,000,000 18 months earlier. From the present total, Wall street calculated that there should be deducted the amounts already pledged as collateral for foreign loans, with whatever additional amount might be reserved by the British Government for similar use in the future.

General Motor's Report.

"A specimen of the earning's statements which the stock market has had to digest and appraise was that of the General Motor's Co., published today, showing earnings available for the common stock of $168 a share, that figure being more than twice the earnings of the preceding 12 months.

"The showing has a broader meaning than its application to the company itself, whose shares are already out of the reach of the ordinary speculator—though the company today announced a scheme of recapitalization calculated to reduce the quotations of the shares by increasing their number.

"Prosperity among the automobile manufacturers, receiving its inception largely through the requirements of war, naturally has been broadened and deepened by increased industrial activity and prosperity at home, thus affording, after a fashion, a commentary on conditions not furnished by the returns of the out-and-out "war-order companies."

The New German Loan.

"In view of the fact that only a week remains of the period fixed for subscriptions to the new German war loan, today's weekly statement of the Imperial German Bank should be interesting. It does not throw much light on the situation, however.

"The bank's loans and securities have increased $41,500,000 during the week, following a $16,600,000 increase in the preceding fortnight. This, however, may merely represent outstanding short-term treasury bills, which are to be redeemed through proceeds of the war loan, and which are being rediscounted at the bank in order to raise cash for subscriptions to the loan. There is no report on the amount of loan-bureau currency turned in for payment of subscriptions. All that we know is that only 6½ per cent of payments on war loan of a year ago were in this special currency.

"At the end of 1915, $556,000,000 of such notes were in existence, of which $243,000,000 were in the public's hands, the rest being held by the reichsbank. A few weeks ago it was stated that $508,000,000 of the notes were in existence, of which $404,000,000 were in public circulation."

More Gold Received.

"The day brought news of gold received through unusual channels. The $2,500,000 which arrived at San Francisco for British account, may have come directly from Australia instead of pursuing the round-about course through the depository in Canada. Boston too reported $2,490,000 received last week and not hitherto disclosed. On the present movement, beginning last May, we have received $312,000,000, while the total for the present month, $82,500,000, exceeds that of last October, but still falls short of the $122,000,000 imported last June.

"An incident of the day's money markets was the rather sharp advance—from 4½ to 5¼ per cent—in the day-to-day rate at London, while call loans on the New York Exchange were made at generally lower rates than those of the previous day.

DETAILED REPORT OF DAY'S TRADING IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.

Investment shares dominated today's early active operations with further substantial gains in rails, the inquiry for those issues being more impressive than at any time in the recent general rise. There were many transactions embracing single blocks of 1000 to 4500 shares in Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Reading and Northern Central at advances extending from fractions to over a point. Coppers also were in renewed favor with such industrials as United States Steel, Crucible and Republic Steels, Colorado Fuel and General Electric, the latter at an advance of over 5 points. Texas Co. was the only active stock to display heaviness, yielding 8 points.

The pace set by rails at the outset was more than maintained, leaders of that group increasing their advantage to levels not placed them at highest quotations for the past year or two, while Reading at 115⅛ made a new record. Union Pacific was the most active stock of the first hour in which sales again exceeded half a million shares for the first time in many months, superseding Steel and Coppers.

Texas Company was the only active stock in rails ran to 2 points in many issues with an increasing demand. Steel and representative industrials, as well as prominent specialties, held their ground and shipping shares rose substantially. Realizing provoked moderate reactions before noon. Bonds were firm.

Coppers and industrials took the place of rails in the diminished dealings of the afternoon although a total of 1,000,000 shares was reached before 1 o'clock. Inspiration Copper and Republic Steel made new high records.

GERMAN SOCIALIST RECEDES FROM ANNEXATION POLICY

Impossible to Expect No Change in Boundary When War Ends, Philip Scheidemann Says.

BERLIN, via London, Sept. 27.—A significant paragraph discussing peace conditions appears in the speech delivered at the recent Socialist conference by Philip Scheidemann, former First Vice President of the Reichstag. The speech was published here today in full.

While strongly emphasizing the fact that Socialists are opposed to a policy of annexation, the Socialist leader admits that it is impossible to expect that the war will leave all the border unchanged.

"Shall we insist," he said, "that Poland must remain absolutely Russian even if there is a possibility of making her free and independent? That would ill become us as Socialists. In peace negotiations there will be deliberations about the Balkans, Western Asia, Africa and probably about the readjustments of power over the entire world. Can we therefore demand that everything under all circumstances remain just as before the war? Agreements for making changes can be acceptable at least to us provided they do not create anger or new wars or do violence to any foreign people."

To Pay C. & E. I. Bond Interest.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—All the accumulated interest on bonds of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad which has remained unpaid since March, 1915, and amounts to more than $630,000, is to be paid off at once. On the petition of Receiver William J. Jackson, who says that the road has the cash now, Judge Carpenter of the Federal Court authorized the payment.

Gerard on Way to U. S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Secretary Lansing today announced officially that James W. Gerard, American Ambassador to Germany, is en route home for a belated vacation, probably to stay about two months. Secretary Grew of the embassy will be in charge at Berlin. Gerard has been constantly on duty for two years.

COTTON IS LOWER ON BEARISH CABLE NEWS

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The cotton market opened at a decline of 5 to 9 points today, in response to easier Liverpool cables and scattered selling, which appeared to come partly from Southern sources. Private cables said the decline in Liverpool had been due to reports of slightly easier Southern spot markets and some hedge selling. Trading here was quiet and after selling off to 16c for Dec. and 16.08c for Jan., or about 9 to 10 points net lower, prices steadied on covering and bullish private crop advices including reports that the condition of the Alabama crop had deteriorated between 15 and 20 per cent for the month.

Cotton—Spot quiet; middling uplands, 15.95c. Sales, 100 bales.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 27.—Cotton—Spot in moderate demand; prices easier; good middling, 9.66d; middling, 9.50d; low middling, 9.34d.

WATCH BUILDING OF GREAT STOREHOUSES, BLOW THEM UP

German Airmen Declared to Have Destroyed Huge Ammunition Supplies of British Near Calais.

BERLIN, Tuesday, Sept. 26, by wireless to the Associated Press, via Tuckerton, N. J., Sept. 27.—The story of the destruction by German aviators on the night of July 20 of huge British ammunition stores at Audurico, in Northern France, 10 miles south of Calais, is published in the semi-official Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung. The newspaper says German aviators kept watch for months while the ammunition storehouses were being built. The plant consisted of dozens of sheds and buildings of all sizes, equipped with vast switching facilities and unloading platforms.

When the aviators were satisfied the storehouses were filled, they made an attack at night, dropping bombs which are said to have caused the explosion of everyone of the storehouses and set fire to barracks and other military establishments over a wide area.

AGED BIBLE TEACHER DIES

Mrs. Elizabeth Clarkson, Alton's oldest active Snday school worker, died yesterday morning at the age of 96. For many years she taught a class of young men in the First Presbyterian Church and when she grew so feeble she could no longer go to church she still taught them in her home as they came to her bedside on Sunday mornings. She was also an active member of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and a few years ago donated $100 for a public drinking fountain which was set up on Broadway near the Princess Theater.

She was a native of England and came to Alton as a young woman. She leaves two sons, James Clarkson of Carthage, Mo., and William Clarkson of Owatonna, Minn.

SHIPYARD CHIEFLY OWNED BY ST. LOUISANS IS SOLD

Cuban Purchases Establishment in New York to Build Own Vessels.

Herman C. Stifel, president of the Stifel-Nicolaus-Parsons Investment Co., today announced the sale of the Standard Shipbuilding Yards in New York, which were owned by a syndicate chiefly St. Louisans, to Jose E. Marimon of Cuba.

The yards were owned by Stifel, Edward A. Faust, Moses Shoenberg, William R. Bush, all of St. Louis, and two Boston men. The company is capitalized at $3,000,000. It had orders for six ships, on which construction had begun.

Stifel declined to state the consideration, but said the syndicate would make a handsome profit. Marimon bought to build his own ships when he found it impossible to get any concern to build boats to be put in the Cuban freight service.

Faust, who has been in New York for about 11 months, since the organization of the company, will return to St. Louis next week.

One Thousand Dollars Grows to Over Seven Million in the Automobile Business.

Mr. Ford is quoted as stating he refused Two Hundred Million Dollars in cash for the Ford plant and business.

It is further stated that the original capital of the Ford Motor Company was $28,000 in cash, so that on this basis $1.00 has grown to $7100, a $10.00 bill has grown to $71,000, and $100.00 has grown to $710,000, or nearly three-quarters of a million, and all this, mind you, within about 12 or 14 years.

We do not believe that this record has ever been equaled by any oil or mining company, nor any other industrial company. We believe that this is the surest evidence of the marvelous money-making motor business.

It seems to us, after a careful analysis of facts, that the greatest profits in the automobile industry have been made by the manufacturers of low-priced cars. Take, for instance, the little Saxon, which is now earning, every few weeks, more than its entire original cash capital. Look at the Overland, which in a few years has developed from practically nothing to one of the biggest corporations in the world. Take the Hupp, the Reo, and many other low-priced and medium-priced cars, and you have the best examples of the large profits in this business.

We call your attention to a few instances where a small amount of money invested at the start in a prominent Automobile Company today has grown to a fortune.

HARROUN MOTORS have a chance to grow in a like proportion. One-tenth part of Mr. Ford's success would mean many thousands of dollars in profits to the first investors in HARROUN MOTORS at its original offered price of $5.00 per share.

We are the largest and most exclusive dealers of AUTOMOBILE SECURITIES in the Country. We do not handle any other stocks or bonds. We devote our entire time and attention to the AUTOMOBILE SECURITY MARKET. For that reason we believe we are in a better position to furnish information and advice in regard to AUTOMOBILE Securities than any other brokerage house in the United States.

Within the last three or four weeks the greatest bull market has been going on that this country has ever seen. MOTOR Stocks of all kinds have advanced with the general list. We believe that most of the MOTOR Stocks are good for an advance of from ten to twenty points.

Chevrolet has advanced twenty points.
Maxwell has advanced over 5 points.
Studebaker has advanced over 7 points.
Willys-Overland is selling at one and three-fourths times par under its new capitalisation.
General Motors has advanced over one hundred and fifty points.

We have been recommending the purchase of these stocks. Advice of this kind is valuable to our clientele.

REGARDLESS OF THE MERIT OF OTHER AUTOMOBILE SECURITIES, we today advise the purchase of HARROUN MOTORS Shares. We urge all our clients to act promptly, before the trading on the New York Curb starts, and when it does it means at an advance of price and will advance rapidly. It is sure to be at an advanced price.

The Wisdom OF Wedding

AND OTHER THINGS

By "BO"

THE Thing I don't like about Marriage is that your friend's Wedding Invitations always reach you when you're "Broke."

Another Thing:

I am always afraid that just as the Pastor is about to make the pairing permanent some excitable person will dash forward dashing ice water on the proceedings.

"Is there any reason why John Addlepate should not wed Susie Sightly?"

"Yes! Yes! Stop Them—Susie can't cook."

Or "John has three other wives in Sikestown."

Marriage is undoubtedly one of our most popular pastimes but it holds terrors for the "Mere Man."

Compared to the self-consciousness of a bridegroom, the returning soldier boy is a veteran.

I have never seen a fairy that seems worth those agonizing moments when everybody—pastor, organist, chorus—are all trying to make the ceremony drag out just as long as possible.

ANOTHER thing—

Weddings bring out so many relatives.

And it must be awful for the bridegroom to have to actually give presents to his bachelor friends. They ought to be giving dinners and gifts to him.

I GUESS I DON'T LIKE MARRIAGE.

But on the other hand, Mary Pickford certainly makes a great-looking bride. If you were in love with someone like her it certainly would be a crime to deprive her of the pleasure.

So perhaps people who don't like weddings and such are not in love.

The candles are lit,
And the groomsmen, too—
The rice is ready
And also the shoe—
The bride is dressing to go away—
Let's wish her well on life's highway.

TO wit—to woo,"
Said the owl.
Moonlight is spoonlight,
And, when nights are bright,
Dan Cupid has trees to hide lovers from sight—
When dark nights come round
There is still spoonlight, too,
For lovelight is all right where two lovers woo.

AND HE'S ALL PUFFED UP ABOUT IT, TOO.

The modern stage hero dashes into the scene slapping face powder from his coat instead of alkali dust from his uniform.

HER HERO—

"I stopped a team of horses in the street;
I had the credit for a nervy feat;
I won the lady who was driving—see!
And now, by golly, boys, she's driving me."

BREATHES there an advertiser with soul so dead who never to himself has said:

"I have a wonderful, amazingly clever idea of my own. I will take the names of the brides and bridegrooms from the newspapers and mail them, etc., etc."

I am an inkstand, given to my mistress on her wedding day. I saw her write her dainty little notes thanking her friends for their remembrances.
She didn't use me much until the baby came and died,
And then she used to lean her head right near me while she cried.
One day she took her pen in hand to tell him she had left,
And since that time both he and I go through life bereft.

Versatile.

A LADY stopping at a hotel on the Pacific Coast rang the bell the first morning of her arrival and was very much surprised when a Japanese boy opened the door and came in.

"I pushed the button three times for a maid," she said sternly, as she dived under the bed covers.

"Yes," the little fellow replied, "me she."

COMBING WON'T RID HAIR OF DANDRUFF

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—ADV.

Potent Love Charm

A YOUNG woman who thought she was losing her husband's affection went to a seventh daughter of a seventh daughter for a love powder. The mystery woman told her.

"Get a raw piece of beef, cut flat, about an inch thick. Slice an onion in two and rub the meat on both sides of it. Put on pepper and salt, and toast it on each side, over a red coal fire. Drop on it three lumps of butter and two sprigs of parsley, and get him to eat it."

The young wife did so, and her husband loved her ever after.

A Blunder.

IT was bathing time and from the bedroom of twin boys came the sound of hearty laughter and loud crying. Their father went up to find the cause.

"What's the matter up here?" he inquired.

The laughing twin pointed to his weeping brother. "Nothing," he giggled, "only nurse has given Alexander two baths and hasn't given me any at all."—American Boy.
